Halifax Store Fire Toll Of 10 May Grow

Ruins Searched For More Bodies

HALIFAX (CP)—Firemen probed the ruins of a gutted department store today to determine if more than 10 persons were killed in a spectacular blaze started when a gaily-lit Christmas window display burst into flames.

Ten bodies were recovered Thursday night from the ruins of the four-story building on Barrington Street, Halifax's main thoroughfare. Police were unable to identify three immediately. One section of the ruins still was too dangerous to search. Police listed the known dead as Mrs. Robert Sullivan, 24; Marion Moser, 17; William Henry Bunn, 5½, and his son, Milton; Mrs. Alan Robar, 24; Dorothy Mills, 21, and Joseph McEachern.

A teenage youth led five others to safety. Three more stumbled through the front entrance seconds after the building burst into flames. Police estimated 29 persons were in the store at the time, some clerks and some Christmas shoppers.

Constable Walter Clancy said he was crossing the street to investigate a red glow in the store window when a violent explosion blew out the big plate glass windows.

"It was impossible to reach the entrance of the store," he said.

Inside, 16-year-old Roland Mulholland led two other youth and three women to safety by a rooftop escape ladder.

On their way, they heard the cries of a woman trapped on the smoke-filled third floor.

EARL BROWDER

WASHINGTON (BUP)—Earl Browder, one-time boss of the American Communist Party, was sent to jail today when he pleaded poverty and failed to put up $1,500 bond on his arraignment on contempt of Congress charge. Browder entered no plea to the charge.

Canada Urges Caution In Korea Crisis

Pearson Declines A-Bomb Comment

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada feels the United Nations and its member states should move slowly and cautiously in the present international crisis over Korea.

That was the gist of a series of comments at a press conference by External Affairs Minister Pearson, on developments in the military and diplomatic phases of the war.

He declined to comment immediately on one important side issue of that conflict—President Truman's reported statement in Washington about possible use of the atomic bomb against the Chinese Communists.

The Canadian government, Pearson said, has asked its embassy in Washington for an accurate report of what the President told his press conference yesterday about the bomb.

Pearson said the government feels that "even now it would be unwise to do anything to extend the conflict" in the Korean theatre. He gave that answer when a reporter asked if the government has any views on strategic bombing of Manchuria.

Atom Bomb In London 'Could Kill 30,000'

LONDON (AP)—British medical experts estimate today that an atom bomb dropped over London would in its first blinding flash kill 30,000 men, women and children.

But with courage and the use of proper preventive measures, casualties could be held to half, a distinguished panel of doctors wrote in today's issue of The Practitioner, a British medical publication.

A low-level atom bomb, they said, would kill another 1,100 persons through delayed radiation, but the biggest toll would be from its direct effects. The estimates—part of a 22,000-word report on atom bomb effects—were made by E. Leader-Williams, scientific adviser for the Home Office, and John Smith of Scotland's Department of Health.

The articles agreed that the one potent weapon hitons had

Barge Skipper Drowns

Reginald Sims, about 37, of 3587 Rumble Street, New Westminster, C.N.R. barge relief skipper, drowned when he fell into the waters of the upper Inner Harbor at 12:20 a.m. today.

Assistant Fire Chief James Bayliss and Firemen J. Marshall and G. Smith used artificial respiration and applied the pulmotor to no avail. Body is at McCall Bros' Funeral Parlor.

The mishap took place at the Machinery Depot wharves at the foot of Bay Street. Constables Robert Mair and William Knowles of the city police recovered the body.

There were bruises on the left side of the face and forehead and over both eyes. In falling he struck a fender log between the barge and wharf.

He was pronounced dead by Dr. Stanley S. Avren.

Police said Sims had visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gold, 642 Niagara Street, last night.

At 10:30 Sims drove the Golds to his barge and invited them aboard for a cup of tea. On securing the gangplank for the visitors to leave, Sims slipped and went overboard.

Mr. Gold got V.M.D. night workers to call police. Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, will decide whether an inquest will be necessary.

Sims was relieving the skipper of the barge who is on holidays.

War Not 'Hopeless'—MacArthur

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur said today the military situation in Korea is serious and critical but not hopeless.

He added, however, that he regards as "an enormous handicap, without precedent in military operations," the United Nations restrictions against unlimited pursuit of the Chinese Communists and aerial attacks on their Manchurian bases.

MacArthur said it would be "inappropriate at this time" for him to comment on the possible use of the atom bomb in the Korean conflict.

President Truman has said active consideration is being given to use of the A-bomb if necessary although its use has not been authorized so far.

MacArthur said there is no sign that Russian divisions are being mobilized on the Siberian border.

Windsor Urges A-Bomb

CHESTERBOURG, France (UP)—The Duke of Windsor said today the atom bomb should be used in Korea if needed to stop United Nations troops and stop Communist aggression. The Duke arrived here to board the liner Queen Elizabeth for New York.

A lotta folks who is feelin' pretty safe in the sunshine is havin' a lot to say about how to fight a war in the snow, 5,000 miles away.

M'wife says you sure can tell war is comin'. Asked her why. "Because dresses are gettin' shorter and hair is gettin' longer," she says.

Guess that's about as good a reason as any.

Attlee May Ask Talk With Russia

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Attlee made last-minute plans today to fly to Washington Sunday for talks with President Truman aimed at ending Communist China's intervention in Korea and preserving a shaky world peace.

Washington observers believe the Prime Minister also will explore the possibility of calling a secret high-level meeting of the western powers and Russia to end world tension, as urged in the House of Commons Thursday by Winston Churchill.

The British leader spent the morning in hurried conference with top ministers, and began lining up his team of advisers for the Washington talks.

Morning callers at 10 Downing Street were Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and Defence Minister Emanuel Shinwell. Other ministers saw Attlee later in the day.

Informants said no full meeting of the cabinet has been scheduled. In Ottawa there was speculation that Prime Minister St. Laurent would be invited to attend the talks.

Attlee is expected during his visit to:

1. Emphasize the British Cabinet's view that no decision to use the atom bomb in Korea should be made without prior consultation with United Nations member states whose forces are fighting there.

2. Try to settle differences between American and British theories over the manner in which an approach should be made for a settlement with Communist China and for the resolving of Far-Eastern problems generally.

3. Press for withdrawal of U.N. forces in Korea to a defence line well short of the Manchurian frontier before seeking a settlement with Red China.

4. Try to insure that the United States and Britain are in full accord in handling the delicate international situation.

G.O.P. Aid Promised; U.N. Lines Holding

WASHINGTON (AP)—Full-scale Republican support of the Korean war effort was promised by Senator Wm. Taft (Rep.-O.) today as President Truman called Congress leaders into grim conference on the military crisis.

Prior to his meeting with Prime Minister Attlee this week-end, the President summoned his military and diplomatic chiefs to sit in with Congressmen for a review of what Truman has described as a fight for "our own national security and survival."

At issue in today's White House conference may be such momentous possibilities as (1) use of the atomic bomb against Chinese Communist troops, (2) permission for Gen. MacArthur to send bombers blasting north of the Manchurian border, and (3) how fast to step up manpower and industrial mobilization in the United States.

The President already had made clear one vital point—come what may, U.S. forces won't voluntarily be withdrawn from Korea.

Taft, who heads the Senate Republican policy committee, said he thinks Republicans will go all out for any measure calculated to bring belief to hard-pressed United Nations' forces in Korea. He was not invited to the White House conference, limited largely to appropriations, armed services and foreign relations committee members.

PRICE DIRECTOR

As word came from top officials that the expanding defence effort is going to start hurting all segments of the civilian economy, there were these other developments:

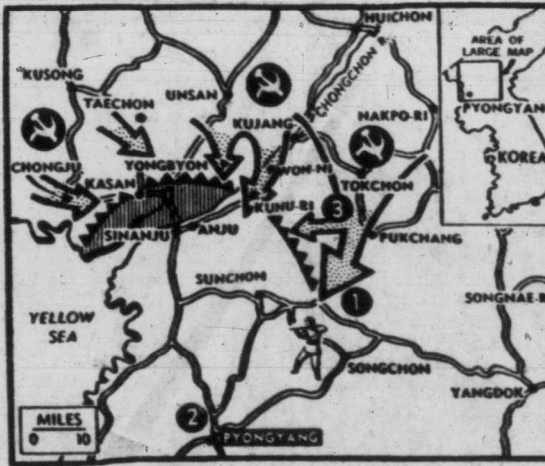

1. Truman named Mayor Michael V. DiSalle of Toledo, O., to be price administrator—an action which many took to mean that wage and price controls may soon be imposed.

2. The administration offered its long-awaited civil defence bill, providing for an administrator who would have vast powers in event of an attack on the United States. Its fate in Congress was uncertain.

Atlantic Pact Plans Speeded

WASHINGTON (AP)—Informed sources said today a meeting of North Atlantic military leaders has been arranged to seek immediate agreement on creation of a combined defence force in Western Europe. A formal announcement is probable within the next 24 hours.

President Truman said only Thursday that it now is more necessary than ever to establish such a force under a supreme command.

Lull After Chongchong Battle

Chinese Communist troops slashing ahead in Korea cut down the Allied Chongchong River sector (striped-shaded area) to a 30-mile line. They pushed a spearhead south (1) to within 30 miles of Pyongyang (2). The strategic towns of Won-ni, Yongbyon and Yongsongdong fell to the enemy. Four enemy regiments struck west of Pukchang (3) in attempt to surround Allied forces. Then came a comparative lull in the fighting.—(NEA Photo)

BULLETIN
TOKYO (BUP)—The Chinese Communist radio at Peiping said today President Truman's threat to use the atom bomb is a "violent war provocation."

TOKYO (AP)—Gen. MacArthur's intelligence chief said today the Chinese Communists' slugging intervention in Korea can be handled without using the atom bomb.

Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby said the critical situation of the army in the northwest sector is being stabilized. United Nations 10th Corps forces in the northeast, he added, are holding their own.

His statement came at a briefing of war correspondents here as retreating U.N. forces on the northwest front pulled back to a line 30 miles north of the former North Korean capital of Pyongyang. Allied forces in the northeast were holding up against attacks by 80,000 or more Chinese, he said.

RHEE SAYS USE BOMB

The Republic of Korea's president, Syngman Rhee, advocated using the A-bomb in North Korea. He suggested in an interview at Seoul that Allies should use "old-style" atomic bombs such as the ones that pulverized Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Willoughby said the Allied position along the icy Chongchong River in the northwest is being stabilized and added that when the time comes the United Nations forces would strike back against the Communists.

On the northwest front, the retreating 8th Army pulled into a tight line 40 miles south of its advanced positions, and 30 miles north of Pyongyang.

The 8th Army had beat out Chinese attempts to trap it against the Yellow Sea. Allied divisions spreading toward the Manchurian border 40 to 60 miles northward had retreated to the south bank of the Chongchong River.

On the vulnerable right flank—where three South Korean divisions folded under the first heat of the Chinese assault—a Commonwealth force and Turks—each in brigade strength—and the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division stood firm.

The comparative ground lull on the northwest front continued. An 8th Army spokesman said Friday most of the activity was in the air, with Allied planes inflicting an estimated 1,300 Red casualties.

HEAVY AIR ASSAULT

It was the heaviest aerial assault since September. Nearly 700 sorties were flown.

The fighters and bombers rained explosives on Chinese attacking U.S. Marines and 7th Division infantrymen around the Changjin Reservoir in northeast Korea.

The 8th Army spokesman said that in the northwest an unconfirmed report of Communists crossing the Chongchong River north of Kunu is being checked.

Attlee May Ask Talk With Russia

To Consult French Premier Before
Leaving For U.S. To Meet Truman

LONDON (CP)—Big-power talks on the Korean crisis widened today when it was announced Prime Minister Attlee will meet French government leaders in London tomorrow before he leaves by air for Washington Sunday.

Prime Minister Rene Pleven of France will come to London tomorrow with his Foreign Minister, Robert Schuman. Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin will also be at the talks.

Informal quarters said Attlee will be accompanied to Washington by Field Marshal Sir William Slim, chief of the Imperial General Staff.

A-Bomb Spectre Speeds U.N. Chinese Talks

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—With the spectre of atomic war looming, United Nations diplomats today began round-the-clock discussions on how to get the Chinese Communists out of Korea without touching off a third world war.

Conspicuously absent from the planning was Russia's Jacob A. Malik, who Thursday night vetoed a conciliatory six-power Security Council resolution calling on the Chinese Communists to withdraw and promising to safeguard their legitimate interests in Korea and respect their Manchurian frontier.

Chinese Communist delegate Wu Hsiu-Chuan backed him up and declared "the people of China have complete confidence they can beat back the imperialist aggressors."

Wu spoke after the council, following a minimum of debate, threw out his charges that the United States had committed aggression against China and Korea. Only Russia voted in favor of them.

The speeches by Malik and Wu helped to solidify non-Communist sentiment. It was apparent that the 43 countries who have backed U.N. action in Korea have no intention of retreating.

Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb warned that Peiping's interests "may well suffer and suffer acutely" if Chinese Red troops keep pouring into Korea.

Premiers Meet Next Week To Discuss Boost

WINNIPEG (CP)—Premier Campbell of Manitoba said today he will consult other premiers in Ottawa next week on the question of railway freight-rate increases.

Mr. Campbell issued a statement expressing disappointment the federal cabinet rejected an application by seven western and maritime governments for suspension of the recent 20 per cent freight-rate increase.

In Regina, Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan claimed the federal government had let the people of the prairies down badly in approving the 20 per cent boost.

(Premier Manning of Alberta said: "It is wholly unreasonable for the federal government to refuse to recognize the serious situation as it affects the economy of the provinces concerned.")

ATLANTIC CHIEFS EXPECT 'IKE' TO HEAD DEFENCE

WASHINGTON (UP)—North Atlantic military chiefs will meet early next week—either here or in London—to set up a unified defence force headed by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, informed sources said today.

A decision on the site is holding up a formal call to the 12-nation North Atlantic Pact military leaders. The call is expected to go out late today or early tomorrow.

A tentative agreement already has been reached to include German regimental combat teams in the integrated armed forces of the Western European nations, the sources said. Inclusion of the Germans was the chief block to earlier agreement.

Previous plans called for a London meeting, but Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, was reluctant to leave this country because of the critical Korean situation.

Halifax Store Fire Toll Of 10 May Grow

HALIFAX (CP)—Firemen probed the ruins of a gutted department store today to determine if more than 10 persons died in a spectacular blaze started when a gaily-lit Christmas window display burst into flames.

An early report that an explosion had preceded the fire was denied by investigators. A teenage youth led five others to safety. Three more stumbled through the front entrance seconds after the building burst into flames.

Two men leaped out of a car and one stuck a German Luger in his back while the other struck him in the face, according to hotel manager Andrew Lavary. A third man remained in the automobile and kept the motor running.

The robbery took only about a minute, Garfin said, and there were several other persons nearby at the time.

Police believed they had picked up the getaway car within minutes of the hold-up.

Garfin had taken about $6,000 in bills and $600 in change out of the bank. The money was to be used by the hotel beer parlor to cash customers' cheques today, the first of the month.

Driver of the getaway car was described as about 35 years old. Garfin said both men who robbed him carried German Lugers.

Garfin was not seriously hurt.

Truman Asks For $17 Billion More

Sum Needed For Atom Arms, Army Expansion

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman today asked Congress to provide an additional $17,850,000,000 for arms, including atomic weapons, with the "utmost speed" because of the "gravity of the world situation."

Truman said "these funds are needed to support our part in the United Nations military action in Korea, and to increase the size and readiness of our armed forces should action become necessary in other parts of the world."

He asked: $16,800,000,000 for a quick build-up of the Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force. $1,050,000,000 to speed up the atomic energy program which means increasing the stockpile of atom bombs.

Before sending his message to the Capitol, Truman had Democratic and Republican congressional leaders at the White House for a discussion of the grave international situation and an explanation of why he was asking the money.

Prior to his meeting with Prime Minister Attlee this week-end, the President also summoned chiefs of state to sit in with congressmen for a review of what Truman has described as a fight for "our own national security and survival."

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

MONEY A MICKLE MEKS

THERE IS an old Scottish proverb which extols the virtue of thrift. It is "Money a mickle meks a muckle," and the truth of it was, perhaps, never more convincingly demonstrated than in a movement which has just celebrated its 50th anniversary in Canada.

It was in December, 1900, that Alphonse Desjardins organized at Levis, Quebec, the first credit union in North America. After years of personal research and study, he gathered about him a few interested farming folk who started this new people's bank with a joint deposit of $26.40. Today that Levis credit union has grown to 4,584 members and its assets have reached the huge sum of $5,044,591.

BIG OAKS FROM

FROM THAT little acorn the Credit Union movement has grown into an enormous oak with branches all over this continent. After extending his efforts throughout the province of Quebec and into Ontario, Mr. Desjardins was invited to Manchester, New Hampshire, where he organized the first credit union in the United States in 1909.

After that, he not only formed similar groups in Massachusetts but was invited to assist in the drafting of legislation for the incorporation of credit unions in New Hampshire and Massachusetts.

CANADIAN CAUTION

BY A STRANGE irony, while he played an active role in the American states' legislation, he was unable to get the Canadian government of the day to follow suit. Yet he was an expert witness on its behalf in 1906-1907, side by side with the late Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, then deputy minister of labor.

The bill passed the House of Commons, but was defeated in the Senate. But in 1922 Ontario passed enabling legislation, and 10 years later the idea had spread to all the provinces. In 1932, by one of those queer quirks of history, the idea that Desjardins took to the United States 30 years earlier returned to Canada, when American credit union leaders were invited to Nova Scotia to help organize the farmers, fishermen and miners of the Maritimes.

COMMON BOND

THIS REMINDS us that one of the basic requirements of credit union organization is that the membership be drawn from some common bond of association. Thus we find credit unions among farmers, fishermen, civil servants, factory workers, printers, communities, parishes, co-operatives, brotherhoods, judges, labor unions, etc.

Credit unions have always stressed the importance of savings and thrift under their programs. In fact, that was why they were started in the first place—so that people of low incomes could pool their resources and thus help each other out when help was needed.

NEARING MILLION

THAT THIS mutual, self-help union has proved a success is shown by the report prepared by J. E. O'Meara of the Federal Department of Agriculture. He cites statistics to the effect that by the end of 1949 there were 2,819 credit unions in Canada, of which 207 are in British Columbia. In other words, one in every 14 Canadians belongs to a credit union.

Over the years, the total assets in the Dominion groups have reached the stupendous sum of $282,242,278, and the amount loaned since the inception of the movement has attained the even more staggering total of $663,957,713. These loans have been used for buildings and improvements, the purchase of farm machinery and equipment, automobiles and trucks, land payments and mortgages, and many other purposes too numerous to mention.

MARK ANNIVERSARY

SO IT IS only fitting that the 50th anniversary has been properly marked as a milestone on the highway of thrift which leads to the ultimate goal of nice "nest-eggs." In August of this year, more than 3,000 members of credit unions in Canada, the United States and other countries gathered at Levis, Que., to honor the memory of Alphonse Desjardins and to dedicate a new office building to house the Quebec headquarters of the movement he started.

And it was President Truman who, in May, laid the corner stone at Madison, Wis., of the new office building of the American headquarters of the thrift movement introduced into the United States by that Quebec pioneer more than 40 years ago.

Buys Largest Turkey As Donation To Orphanage

When prize-winning birds in the fourth annual dressed turkey show of the V.I. Turkey Improvement Association were auctioned off Thursday night, Victoria butcher Jack Stuart was there to bid the longest and highest.

As in all former show years, he bought most of the champion birds, including the grand champion, shown by James Mitchell, Nanos Bay, and the tom champion, shown by C. E. Whitney-Griffiths, Metehosin.

Mr. Stuart paid $16 for the grand champion bird, a hen weighing 17½ pounds, and $20 for the champion tom, a 35½-pound gobbler.

As is his custom, Mr. Stuart will send the big tom to the B.C. Protestant Orphanage for Christmas Day dinner.

Other prizewinners were: Nat Eccleston of Wellington, best Beltsville White hen; E. Rosvold, Wellington, best pair of female birds; L. W. Marshall, Sidney, best four males; Ivan Wicklund, Ladysmith, best four Beltsville Whites; Whitney-Griffiths, best pair of male birds.

Says Duke Of Windsor Aware Of Wife's Dates

NEW YORK (UP)—Playboy James P. "Jimmy" Donahue, cousin to Barbara Hutton and heir to Woolworth millions, said today, in reply to gossip columnist comment, that there was "nothing wrong" in his escorting the Duchess of Windsor about town while the Duke was in England.

Receive Wings At Ceremony Tonight

Eleven members of the Victoria Flying Club will receive tiny silver wings at a dinner at the Monterey tonight to signify they have completed their courses as student pilots and are now full-fledged fliers.

The wings will be presented by D. R. MacLaren, executive assistant of the Pacific region of Trans-Canada Airlines.

Among those scheduled to receive their wings is 17-year-old Georgina Eason, believed to be the youngest woman in Canada to hold a private pilot's license.

several times during the past week. One New York columnist hinted that there was a rift between the Duke and the Duchess.

Donahue said he wasn't "at all surprised" at the gossip or the comments of the columnists.

He said he had taken the Duchess out frequently. He last saw her Wednesday, he said.

"There's always a lot of talk when you take someone out as prominent as the Duchess," he said. "But there absolutely nothing wrong between us, or as far as the Duke is concerned."

The Duke and I are good friends and he knows that I have been taking her out.

He said any talk of a rift between the Duke and the Duchess was "simply not true."

"I can guarantee that there's no possibility of any misunderstanding between them," he said. "They are a devoted couple and they always will be. The Duchess came here ahead only because she had to see her aunt, who is ill and because the Duke had to remain in England to finish his book. He should be over to join her shortly."

Breakwater Work Second To Defence

LADYSMITH—City Council has been informed by the Dominion Department of Public Works that a permanent breakwater cannot be built in the harbor because of national defence work.

Building of the breakwater has been a project of long standing with the City Council and Ladysmith Chamber of Commerce, to provide shelter for the local fishing fleet.

Extra Pay For Front Line Men May Get Consideration, Says Claxton

By ROY THORSEN

With the Canadian Army bound for a war zone again, the question of "combat pay" for the front line soldier is once more brought to the forefront.

On his visit to Fort Lewis last week, Defence Minister Brooke Claxton was questioned by correspondents on "danger pay" for fighting men.

"I was against it in the last war," he said... but indicated the door was not closed and he would support it if a case could be made out.

American soldiers get a little extra for combat pay.

MORE PAY FOR VETS

However, an announcement came from Ottawa today that a change in existing pay classification has been made to compensate the large percentage of veteran soldiers in the special force for previous military service.

The veteran will be upped to Private First Class—if, by reason of previous service, he has reached, in the opinion of his C.O., a standard of military knowledge equivalent to that of a soldier who has completed 12 months' service as a trained private.

Basic pay of a private (first class) is $79 a month, compared

Dick Diespecker, Vancouver newsreader and radio editor of the Vancouver Daily Province, will be in Victoria Saturday to autograph copies of his new book, "Elizabeth," at T. Eaton Co.

The book, a mixture of poetry and prose, is a tribute to his mother, who brought her family from South Africa, to settle in Victoria. Here, in her Dallas Road home, she raised her family and eventually died.

He will be at the store from 2.30 to 4.30 in the afternoon.

Confidence Vote For North Cowichan Reeve

Candidates for council in forthcoming election, who addressed the meeting, were David Coupland, George Whittaker and Charles Douglas.

with $68 for the private on entry.

I got varied answers from 2nd Battalion Princess Patricia's paratroopers at Fort Lewis on the eve of their departure for "Over There" as to why they had joined up for frontline action.

"I am out to see some of the world before I settle down," said 21-year-old Pte. Ronald Eberts, 310 Kennedy Street. Kenneth Dobbs, Fairbridge Farm School, Duncan, just 19, said that also was his aim.

They had no thought of accompanying dangers to life and limb should they collide with the Reds.

Vancouver's 43rd Street Pte. George Whittaker looked on it differently.

"We've got to stop this (Communism) before it reaches our own back yard... and, well, somebody's got to get out and do the job," he said.

"I'm proud to be going. I'm proud of the fact the P.P.C.L. were the first to be chosen for a United Nations role in the special force," said 21-year-old George Bonney, Neepawa, Man. That was endorsed by Pte. Gerald Robertson, Ottawa.

"You sorta get the urge to get into things when the time comes... and it does give you a good feeling to step forward when your country asks you," said red-haired Bonney, of Scottish-Irish stock.

NEED MORE RESERVISTS

Canada's first line of defence in the event of an attack—the Reserve Army—here is in a rather a sad state to meet a sudden emergency.

That appears to be the opinion among the officials of Victoria reserve forces. It is chiefly due to not enough men enlisting as part-time soldiers.

All units can show a fair strength, on paper. But some are heavy with "deadwood," men who have signed but are not training.

The world in turmoil and on the brink of a possible third world war, poses a disturbing problem for the men who will have to try and meet an attack with present strength.

COME ON, FOLKS, WAKE UP!

One officer was of the opinion the community itself should recognize the need to build up the reserve force, either by encouraging their sons to volunteer or to get their parliamentary representatives to take some action to get the Government to induce more men to don khaki twice a week.

There are not enough men being trained and units have enough equipment to train 10 times more, an officer said.

There is a lot of talk about civil defence. In the meantime, we have a heavy anti-aircraft regiment charged with the defence of this area to ward off bombing attacks. What could be more logical than to have the citizens get behind this unit so bombs won't fall.

18,000 To Take Census Of 14,000,000 In June

OTTAWA (CP)—Between 18,000 and 19,000 Canadians will scour the highways and by-ways of Canada next summer to seek the minutest details about their fellow men.

That's the number of census enumerators who will be employed in the complex job of completing Canada's ninth decennial count of its people and their possessions, Herbert Marshall, Dominion statistician, said today.

In addition, 262 census commissioners will take charge of the all-important count in each electoral district. Their appointments will be announced early in 1951.

Mr. Marshall said the population is expected to total more than 14,000,000, an upward sweep from 11,500,000 in 1941, and the largest absolute increase in any decade since the first country-wide census in 1871. It would be a record growth, he said, even without the addition of Newfoundland as Canada's 10th province.

Some $9,000,000 will be poured into the count, considered the most important in the country's history. To be launched June 1 next, it has been two years in preparation.

The census will run the total course of Canada's physical make-up. It will shed new light on regional characteristics, aiding the manufacturer in his advertising campaigns and merchants in their marketing.

Surveys will be made not only of population—expected to top 14,000,000—but the kind of homes in which Canadians live, how they earn and spend their money, what equipment they possess, the things they buy.

For the first time, the census takers will make a detailed study of the fishing industry. They also will survey the rural scene, studying Canadian farm life, and carefully add up the strides Canada has made in its expanding wholesale and retail trade.

One-time Red Boss In U.S. Jailed

31 Traffic Deaths During December

Thirty-one traffic deaths in B.C. during October brought fatalities for the year up to the same as last year for the 10-month period—125.

At the beginning of October the number of deaths this year was 15 below the number last year, but the 31 fatalities spoiled the record.

Motor Vehicle Branch of the Attorney-General's Department reports also 4,101 persons have suffered injuries in traffic accidents this year compared to 3,868 last year.

CBC Deficit Hits $243,746 In Year

Annual Report Discloses Cost Rise Outstripped Increase In Revenue

OTTAWA (CP)—The CBC ended the 1949-50 fiscal year with a deficit of $243,746, the publicly-owned corporation's annual report showed today. The corporation, which had a deficit of $43,449 in 1948-49, said the increase in costs outstripped the increase in revenues.

IN COURT

SAANICH

Charged with careless driving, Arnold F. Hamilton, Brentwood, was remanded to Dec. 7 without plea.

Helen Thomasset, 351 Arnold Street, faced two driving charges. Charges of failing to make a report of an accident in time was dismissed when she explained she filed a report on learning over the required amount of damage had been done. A recommendation to the Motor Vehicle Branch will go from Magistrate H. C. Hall for driving without being accompanied by an adult holder of a license. She had a learner's license.

Elderly Joseph Moore, Wilkison Road, was remanded to next Thursday for judgment on a charge of careless driving. The car he was driving crashed into the back of a truck on Carey Road Nov. 7. About $800 damage was done to his car.

Nine residents of Saanich paid $1 fines and $2.50 costs in Saanich police court Thursday afternoon for not having current radio licenses. Fined were S. J. Coles, John Findlay, P. LaFortune, H. G. Painter, D. Pedneault, W. J. Putley, G. A. Smith, R. O. Watson and Gilbert J. Johnston.

Thirteen Injured In Vancouver Crash

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Thirteen persons were injured when two buses collided in downtown Vancouver Thursday night.

Bus driver Harold Tyler, 23 North Vancouver, was the most seriously hurt with leg injuries and head cuts. The other bus driver was not hurt.

Seven women and four men were taken to hospital and two other women were treated for injuries.

Windsor Urges A-Bomb

CHERBOURG, France (UP)—The Duke of Windsor said today the atom bomb should be used in Korea if needed to save United Nations troops and stop Communist aggression. The Duke arrived here to board the liner Queen Elizabeth for New York.

TWO-CAR COLLISION

Damage was not heavy when cars driven by William Mossey, 1143 Lockley Road, and Mrs. Mary O. Hemmestrad, East Saanich Road, collided at Pembroke and Quadra Streets Thursday night, city police said.

The report, submitted to the government by A. D. Duntion, CBC chairman, said that during the year the CBC had operated "under conditions of uncertainty about its basic financial position in the future."

"It has been made clear in previous reports that in the face of sharply rising costs the corporation could not carry on with its present revenue rates," said the report. "Either the revenue basis would have to be changed or services of the system would have to be heavily curtailed."

The report mentioned that the Royal Commission on Arts and Science now is studying recommendations on ways to finance the CBC in the future.

Vandenberg Suffers Relapse; Hospitalized

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UP)—Allied Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, 66, Republican champion of bipartisan foreign policy, has suffered a relapse and may not be able to return to Congress next year.

His son, Arthur Jr., said a return to the Capitol in January would be "difficult unless he makes more improvement."

Vandenberg's turn for the worse after a year-long series of operations was a blow to reported administration hopes that he might be able to resume G.O.P. foreign policy leadership.

Classes Instruct Veterans How To Build Own Homes

Starting in January night classes extending over eight weeks will be held for veterans intending to build their own houses under the Veterans' Land Act. Classes will also be held in several other B.C. centres.

Last spring similar courses, operated with the assistance of provincial technical and vocational education officials, proved immensely popular.

"Build your own home" courses sponsored by V.L.A. to enable veterans to acquire houses with a minimum of cash outlay operated on a Dominion-wide scale last year and as a result hundreds of new home owners are today in occupancy.

It is estimated more than 3,000 ex-servicemen will be trudging back to classrooms across Canada this winter to attend the night classes.

Main object of the course is to equip the prospective owner, whether he be bank clerk or bread salesman, with a sufficient knowledge of construction that he can tell when a house is properly constructed. To do this he is taken through each step of the building program.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Thyroid Removal Means Little Risk To Patient

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Even today with the fine anesthetics, new methods of surgery, new drugs and improved care after surgery which are available, many people become worried about operations.

Q—Can a thyroid gland be removed without serious effect on the patient?—Mrs. L. W.

A—The only reason for removing the thyroid gland is to improve the health of the patient. This operation is done thousands of times a year with great success and with little risk to the patient.

Q—Please tell me if the new vitamin B-12 will help the growth of a person 25 years old.—T. B.

A—There have been some experimental studies which indicate that this vitamin might possibly help to increase the stature if given during the growing period. At the age of 25 it almost certainly would not do any good.

Q—Please let me know what foods should be eaten by a person suffering from anemia.—A. J. S.

A—The important thing in the presence of an anemia is to find out what is causing it. There are several different kinds, and they do not all require the same treatment. It would be most unwise to try to treat an anemia by diet alone until the cause had been identified.

Q—Do you recommend that every male baby should be circumcised?—N. H. S.

A—There are some medical reasons why circumcision is desirable in some cases, but it is not always necessary.

Q—I have what I believe is called a pica. I have eaten about 500 grains of baking soda daily for about 10 years. Is this apt to result in physical damage of any kind?—Mrs. R. W.

A—This is certainly a lot of baking soda, but since you have done this for 10 years and are apparently unharmed, it seems that this answers the question.

News of Zuyevic's release from prison after recantation caused a sensation in Belgrade. The 52-year-old former minister of finance, arrested in May, 1948, for subversive activities on behalf of Russia, entered the conference room smiling.

'If That Step Is Necessary'

PRESS CONFERENCES HELD BY Presidents of the United States for a long time have been unique. It is customary for the occupant of the White House to lead off with some more or less perfunctory announcement, often innocuous, and leave the rest to newspapermen who have gained admission to "the presence." Thus it is usually the last few minutes—these "audiences" rarely go much beyond a quarter of an hour—that something of real importance drops from the Presidential lips. This was the case yesterday in Washington.

Mr. Truman dealt at length with the serious state of affairs in Korea. He drew part of his text from Mr. Dean Acheson's address to the National Council of Churches of Christ in America assembled in Cleveland—delivered by the Secretary of State, in absence, from his office in the national capital—and expressed his great concern about the general global situation. And well enough he might. So when one reporter asked the President what the United States proposed to do to stop the aggression, now at flood tide by the spill over from Manchuria of Communistic Chinese, Mr. Truman said that "active consideration" was being given to the use of the atomic bomb if that step were considered necessary.

"If that step were considered necessary" is an intriguing and frightening phrase. Shades of Hiroshima and Nagasaki! As we asked in this column yesterday: "Where do we go from here?" No statesman, regardless of whether he is or is not privy to the contents of the diplomatic pouches in these troublesome times, has the answer to this question. And where, for the sake of argument, would Canada be going "from here" if the United Nations' forces in Korea took the chance which obviously contributed to the speedy conclusion of the war in the Pacific on that August day of 1945?

Another question: How far has the Soviet Union progressed in the realm of nuclear fission? How many atom bombs does she possess? What about her vaunted triumphs in modern science in general? What has she obtained from those trusted servants of the western democracies whose whereabouts are still a mystery? Allied secret agents behind the Iron Curtain may know; but the peace-loving peoples of the world have not the ghost of an idea about the ghastly potential evil contrivances the men in the Kremlin could or might let loose "if that step were considered necessary."

Let us add one note to this lugubrious prospect: Mr. Winston Churchill said in the House of Commons yesterday that "it certainly does not seem in the Russian interest to begin a major struggle now." He may be right. We hope so. At any rate, he proposes to go off on a holiday to the south of France and to do a bit of painting. All we can do is to hope that his canvases will contain nothing but pleasant scenes—with the "red" of artistry in them. Would it not be better, too, if Stalin confined his painting of "red" to the artist's palette instead of trying to splash it all over the global canvas?

The Price Of Survival

MR. BRUCE HUTCHISON, WHO IS known in his profession as a "fact" writer, did some straight-from-the-shoulder speaking on the subject of inflation before members of the Rotary Club yesterday.

The people of Canada are in for some belt-tightening, Mr. Hutchison warned. The spurious prosperity abroad in the land, and the prospect of further inflationary spirals, can only be checked if we face up to the economic facts of cold-war life.

Persons who talk glibly of the imposition of controls (short of war) should realize that this means wage controls, war taxes, compulsory savings, rationing, and perhaps control of labor. In effect, it means the establishment of a totalitarian system to superimpose a cardboard ceiling which can only temporarily protect us from further economic chaos.

Total controls can be avoided, Mr. Hutchison argued, if we permit the government to use drastic fiscal weapons.

The government itself must cut back its non-defense spending. It must pay its bills by taxes and not by creating credit out of thin air by bank borrowings. Citizens will have to avoid hoarding, panic buying and accept the fact that there will be fewer domestic goods to go around.

Mr. Hutchison had some plain talk for both management and labor. The former must be reasonable in its appetite for profits. Labor must be reasonable in its demands for wages, which are the chief component of prices. As old as the laws of commerce itself are the incontrovertible facts that high wages and a decreased supply of consumer goods make for runaway prices.

In brief, the price of survival is higher taxes, reduced spending and drastic economies at all levels. Such Spartan measures may sound unpleasant in these days of tinsel prosperity, but they are hard facts which must be faced by us all.

'Bob' Irving

IN DAYS GONE BY IT USED TO BE said that the doctor was the first called in and the last paid. Many general practitioners of the older school could testify to the truth of this. We recall it because a fine citizen of British Columbia, Dr. Robert Washington Irving of Kamloops, died last week in the Royal Inland Hospital at the age of 73. Dr. "Bob," as he was so familiarly and so well known for so long, had a heart of gold. Though Ontario-born and the winner of the Gold Medal in his senior year in the Faculty of Medicine at the University of Toronto, his four decades in British Columbia had shackled him to the West.

In his part of Canada, at the junction of the North and South Thompson Rivers—Kamloops, of course, is an Indian word meaning the meeting of the waters—he not only lived up to the meticulous tenets of the Hippocratic oath; he did so much for so little for so many. His work as assistant superintendent at Gravenhurst, later as superintendent of Tranquille Sanatorium, established his reputation as an expert in his profession. He was the founder-president of the Kamloops Rotary Club; he took part in every activity that augured well for the city of his adoption; he was, indeed, a good citizen.

U.B.C.'s German Faculty Head Tells Of Life In Western Zone

MISS JOYCE HALLIMORE, the talented and well-informed head of U.B.C.'s German-language department, gave an engrossing account of a recent visit to West Germany before a Victoria audience this week.

In a digression on German culture today, Miss Hallimore told of an art dealer in the Rhine country who had discovered an original picture by Adolf Hitler.

'UNHEROIC DAUBING' "Typically," she said, "it was a painting of an European beer-hall." The art dealer, in a critique on the subject, described it as "an unheroic daubing." Nevertheless, the asking price was 100,000 marks, or about $300 in our money.

The dealer observed, wryly, that it might be "a sensational trophy" in the United States and some American might pay as high as $20,000 for it.

"If that happened," he added, "it would serve a two-fold purpose. It would bring us in much-needed American dollars, and save Germany much embarrassment."

"It was a thoroughly bad picture," the art dealer wrote. "One of the great catastrophes of the Nazi regime was that Hitler sought to raise his own incompetence to a national cult. This is an impotent and cheap copy. It symbolizes the whole Hitler philosophy."

REFUGEE DANGER Germany today is "being wooed for the future rather than whipped for the past," another writer observed. In Miss Hallimore's opinion, the chief danger lies with the refugees from East Germany, who comprise one-quarter of the population of the Allied sector. They make up 39% of all unemployed and Miss Hallimore fears that they might be won over by a demagogue either of the left or right. At the same time, she found that their fear of Russia "bordered on hysteria." This was particularly true after the Korean invasion in June.

The attitude of many Germans, she felt, was summed up in a recent letter from a friend. "It's a thin soup we are eating today," he wrote, "but since we cooked it, we'll eat it up!"—S.K.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

THE mental machine of Mr. Graham Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada, is commonly regarded in Ottawa as man's most successful invention since the wheel, and its operations are more impressive, and far more powerful, than the adjacent falls of the Chaudiere. Mr. Towers' mind is directly connected with his speech, which cannot be said of many statesmen. Thus when he speaks in public, which is seldom, every word is weighed, polished and minted in the Bank.

Mr. Towers made a speech in Toronto the other day which most Canadians probably did not read, but which impinged sharply and painfully on your pocketbook. He said, in a word, that Canadian taxes must go up right away.

THEY must go up to pay for a massive defence program—which means in fact that people must use less goods so that more of them can go into guns. And assuredly they will use less goods whether they reduce their demands in an orderly fashion by paying more taxes or in a chaotic and ruinous fashion by printing more phony money, inflating the currency and raising prices to a point where they cannot buy.

Mr. Towers' speech may safely be taken as a forecast of the federal government's next budget. It is going to raise taxes pretty sharply.

SOMETIMES wonder whether the government of British Columbia has ever heard about these things, whether it ever reads the newspapers. So far as I can understand by studying Mr. Anscomb's budget speeches he expects to come back from Ottawa with a Christmas present of increased federal subsidies to the provincial treasury. If this is his intention it is now obvious that he might as well have stayed at home.

A federal government which cannot balance its next budget without raising taxes, which is desperately trying to economize in all directions to pay for defence, which is holding up every possible building project, which is preparing to postpone the whole Trans-Canada Highway scheme and probably any large expansion of old-age pensions—such a government has no extra money for Mr. Anscomb.

IF HE and other provincial finance ministers demand increased subsidies from Ottawa under a new Dominion-provincial tax agreement they will be told simply that they must renew the present deal or, abandoning it, must start collecting their own income taxes.

Any provincial government which attempted to collect a provincial income tax on top of the increased federal tax which all Canadians must pay next year will soon decorate, I am quite confident, the nearest lamppost.

THERE are three clear facts in all this which British Columbians can profitably understand:

First, that the British Columbia Government spends more money per capita than any provincial government in the history of Canada. Which means that the average British Columbian pays more taxes than the citizen of any other province.

Second, such expenditures—and the expenditures of all federal, provincial and municipal governments—are one of the main causes of inflation and high prices.

All our Canadian governments combined are presently spending over $3 billions a year.

That is to say, they are themselves consuming about one-fifth of the national production of $17 billions. They are competing in the market against every individual for the available goods and thus helping to bid up prices. As every reputable finance minister and economist has been saying, a reduction in governmental expenditure—apart, of course, from defence—is imperative as a weapon against inflation.

THIRD, the people of British Columbia cannot hand their bills on to the Federal Government for payment, no matter how much money Mr. Anscomb can bring home from Ottawa.

When the national Government has to pay a dollar to the British Columbia Government where do you suppose it gets that money? From the Eskimos, perhaps or from Santa Claus? No, it gets that money from the people of the provinces who are all federal taxpayers. Especially it gets the money from the people of British Columbia.

THIS is so because the people of British Columbia are relatively richer than those of any province save Ontario and possibly Quebec. Since British Columbians have high incomes they pay high federal income taxes, and it is the constant bitter complaint of the British Columbia Government that the Federal Government takes out of British Columbia in income tax far more money than it sends back here as expenditures.

If this be true, as the British Columbia Government says, then it follows that every time the Federal Government gives the provinces an extra dollar each it pays this added cost by collecting more than a dollar in British Columbia.

HOWEVER you may figure this out, whatever Mr. Anscomb's budget speeches may say and whatever Mr. Carl Goldenberg's celebrated brief may contain, we British Columbians cannot save a cent by going to Ottawa for money. We can only save the convenience of the Provincial Government, which has spent its way into a jam and wants somebody to pull it out. The Federal Government will not pull it out. The Federal Government is in a jam also and will need all the taxes and all the public patriotism it can find to keep afloat and avoid a further ruinous inflation.

'QUESTION OF GRAMMAR'

Although I may be guilty of taking a grammatical short cut, it is still language that a simpleton can understand, even if your correspondent is unable to do so. One can prove or disprove almost anything in connection with the syntax of our somewhat flexible language. If one cannot take a few short cuts, how about all the slang we hear on every side? What has your correspondent to say about that?

When one has passed the allotted three score and ten span of life by several milestones, a few lapses of memory are to be expected. This need not perturb one as much as the fact of being unable to forget some things which are better not remembered: the complex which urges a person to seek the limelight, for example, in order to assert a superior knowledge at the expense of others.

J. H. GRAY, Prospect Lake.

TOURIST TRADE

You hear a lot today as yesterday of industry, industry, etc. Let us realize what we have at our own doors, millions of dollars worth of the most beautiful scenery on our waterfront there is in the world.

First thing to be done in my opinion and the most important is Greater Victoria taking in Sidney. That is the best place for industries—a flat and level place, property reasonable, facilities splendid.

Let us put Victoria in good shape for tourists and homes, let us advertise our city's lovely gardens, fishing, hunting, mountain climbing, golf courses, tennis courts and many other things that Victoria and surrounding districts can boast, that other cities would be proud to have.

Let us set aside our petty jealousies and get a united South Vancouver Island publicity plan.

Let us develop our greatest assets—scenery, climate, gardens, etc.—for the tourist trade, which in my opinion properly developed is one of the best industries we can have (all cash too).

BILL ARCHER, 1826 Government St.

TEACUPS AND PUDDLES

With reference to your editorial effort to stir up "a storm in a teacup" over the remarks of Rev. Wm. Hills to a small gathering, may I also take a stir at said cup. You consider that Mr. Strath's answer (!!) is "neat and effective." Personally, I consider it weak and ineffective and in the typical superior and condescending style so dear to the heart of the minor politician.

The Padre's description of the Provincial Parliament as "an overgrown County Council" is apt and accurate and it is amusing to watch some (I underline "some") of the big frogs in the little puddle puff themselves up.

The Rev. Hills freely admits that he likes talking, and on the other hand, he is very frequently invited to speak by very intelligent people and there are thousands of people, not only in Victoria but elsewhere in Canada and the U.S. who enjoy listening to him. When he talks he usually has something to say that is worth listening to and also knows what he is talking about. This cannot always be said of the big frogs. While admitting that some of the big frogs are worthy of the big puddle, I think the majority of them are in their element in the little one.

C. E. ATTER, 2700 Arbutus Road.

GET TOGETHER

I often wonder if religious people really believe in the Bible injunction, to "Bless them that curse you, and pray for them which despitefully use you."

If so, why do they not ask the principals of all denominations to get together and compose a suitable prayer to that effect with regard to Communists everywhere to be offered in all churches, and religious gatherings on some particular Sunday.

This would strike at the real source of the trouble.

"INQUIRING" Royal Oak.

SABBATH DAY

In reference to the question of making Sunday a holiday rather than a holy day.

God created the world and man and gave him dominion over every living thing that moved upon the earth. Under those circumstances had not God the right to tell man how to rule? And He did in the Ten Commandments, statutes and judgments. God specially stresses keeping the Sabbath day.

The wars we have endured, the loss of our men at the front, storms, etc., are due to our neglect of God, and until as individuals and nationally we turn to and obey Him, we shall continue to suffer.

Why prolong the agony? (MRS.) A. C. COOPER, 857 McClure Street.

THE ANSWER

Without any axe to grind, may I be allowed to answer your editorial of Wednesday's issue, viz., "What is the answer?" You ask, "What is the western world to think and do about these developments? In the light of what is happening in Korea, and in other areas, and what may happen in continental Europe?" And you ask, "What is the answer?"

The answer is that the world is rapidly approaching the greatest tribulation in all its history! And the answer is: Back to the Bible! The key to the present situation is to be found in Isaiah 26, verses 20 and 21. And in Rev. 18, verse 4. We will do well, all things considered, to defend our own countries and if we do not come out, then we shall be driven out, at great loss.

TOM JOLLY, 3817 Cadboro Bay.

MEDICAL SCHOOLS

In your issue of Monday re Fake Medical Licenses, I read a passage as follows: "There is not one medical school on the European continent which can even approach the standards of medical education in North America."

Well, I beg to differ. Some of the finest physicians in the world are to be found on the European continent—especially among our late enemies in Germany.

Of course I take it that the U.S.A. is included in your statement. We here, are getting absolutely satiated with the U.S.A.—pictures, radios, advertisements and everything. Good heavens, there are other countries in the world besides the States, with their funny ways and extraordinary language.

In case anyone wants to know what nationality I am, Cosmopolitan.

OBSERVER: Ed. Note: The statement to which "Observer" refers above was issued by the Vancouver Medical Association. A number of Victoria medical men were in outspoken disagreement with this view, as reported in our Tuesday editions.)

Travel Diary

Another in a Series
By I. NORMAN SMITH
Associate Editor of The Ottawa Journal

CAIRO, Egypt—The diary lost a day yesterday, what with it being my birthday and also that there was nothing to say except that I took leave of India, and noticed a large sign by the hotel desk as I paid my bill:

"No South Africans Allowed." But, if the day wasn't much but paying bills and seeing doctors to get health certificates for Egypt and mucking about with airline companies and all such trivia—what a night it was!

At 5 we left the Bombay hotel for the air port and we took off in a spick and span new Constellation four-engine job at 14,000 feet headed for Dairan in Saudi Arabia. At 1:30 a.m. we landed, right on schedule; but the Saudi Arabians, though they have been careful to insist we all get and pay for transit visas refused to let us get off the plane.

Gasoline was loaded and we all had sundry papers and forms to fill out, and 45 minutes later we zoomed off for Basra in Iraq.

EARLY ORDEAL We came down at Basra at 3:30 a.m. and were all bundled off to have Persian gentlemen examine our papers and briefcases. What they thought I'd bring into that airport waiting room at that hour of the night for just 45 minutes I have no idea, but anyway there we all sat. At 4:15 we got on board again and headed for Cairo, landing there at 8:15, which, if I mistake not, was 5:15 a.m. Cairo time.

The Cairo officials were no happier to see me than I was to see them. All was in its usual Egyptian state of confusion and inefficiency and it was two hours and a half before the airport bus reached my hotel.

It had been quite a night. Had the trip been non-stop one could have had a solid sleep with the aid of a pill or two; but in bits and pieces like that you don't like to chew morphia, particularly since at given moments you've got to face G-men who look as though they'd like nothing better than to stick you in the jug. Anyway, we arrived safely.

I tell the story not to complain but to show you what a wonderful thing is air travel. It annihilates time and just about anything else you care to mention.

SAW THE TOWN

After an hour's doze after breakfast today I was off and out to see the town and its sights, what somebody says was the first university in the world (which only makes you wonder what the Egyptians have been doing with education all that time) and a whirl into the market.

In these five or six weeks I've developed a mania for markets. You see and hear and smell just about everything in eastern markets and somehow you get the feeling you've escaped from the tourist's highways. And so to dinner and early bed, having absolutely no trouble at all in keeping at arm's length a dusky character who wanted to take me out to "a nice place where to see an Egyptian tummy dancer, you know zir, an Egyptian tummy dancer, very nice." Ah Egypt, why wast thou ever born and what is it about thee that enables me to despise thee with a clear and uninhhibited hate based upon no reasons at all but clear blown out of prejudiced dislike and disgust?

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

"WE seem," said the Elevator Man, "to be living in an age of substitutes. For almost everything you can name, there's something offered 'just-as-good,' or advertised as being cheaper, quicker, stronger, prettier than the original. Durable metal objects are turned out in light plastic models, or originally plastic gadgets are reproduced in metal. What used to be solid is now made in hollow form. The gold is only gold-plated; the oak is now fir; the brick wall is only tile; the truth is only a reasonable facsimile. Going down!"

"Apparently," said the Elevator Man, "the craze for imitation doesn't apply only to things. People are being substituted for, too. Entertainers make their living just pretending they're some other actor. And some go so far as to put on an act imitating an imitator. It's hard to say just how far that can go. Surely the ersatz chain must have a limit. I see in the news where one original has turned and demanded compensation. An actress named Sara Allen is suing Mae West for ruining her career. She says Mae does such good impersonations of her that producers don't want to hire the original any more. As the athlete said to the masseur, 'that's certainly rubbing it in.' Lower main!"

"Not so long ago," said the Elevator Man, "it was common for men to get out of peacetime military service by sending a proxy. No doubt in some cases the substitute there was better than the real thing. And the modern counterpart seems to be to let somebody else play the games and get the exercise while we sit in the stands. Then the hired athletes also have their substitutes. It gets pretty complicated as you go along. The funny thing is, often we don't save a thing by our substitutions. Often we're as muddled as the fella in the story about the angler who said to a kibitzer, 'You've sat here motionless for three hours watching me. Why don't you try fishing yourself?' And the onlooker replied, 'Not me. I haven't the patience!'"

Growth Of Province Shown In Expansion

Big business of governing B.C. requires many buildings which Times cameraman Bill Halkett's aerial photograph shows graphically. Many of province's 8,000 civil servants work in these Victoria buildings under crowded conditions because growth of B.C. has been so rapid since end of war. This condition is fast being

Four Hunters Found Guilty Of Trespassing Saanich Farm Land

William Taylor, farmer who owns and leases 375 acres of land near Martindale Road in Saanich, has declared war on hunters who trespass over his cultivated land.

Four hunters appeared before Magistrate Hall in Saanich police court Thursday afternoon and were convicted on charges of passing over his lands with firearms without permission.

Found guilty were Claude Creed, Brentwood Bay; William Spiruk, 1116 North Park Street; Bronga L. Bruna, 2630 Quadra Street, and Clarence O. Dunaway, 1120 Topaz.

They were remanded to next Thursday for sentence. There is a similar charge against George Walter Harris, Lincoln Hotel. He has also pleaded not guilty. Case will be heard at the next regular sitting of the court.

Creed and Spiruk, shooting together, claimed Creed had shot a bird while outside the Taylor property and had gone in to search for it when accosted by Mr. and Mrs. Taylor. They admitted seeing a "no trespassing" sign.

Bruna and Dunaway, teamed for the day, claimed they were never on Taylor's property, but on an adjacent farm. Mr. Taylor said they were on his property. Hall said he would state his reasons for finding them guilty later.

Dunaway is also charged with assaulting Taylor.

He denied it and Bruna also said Dunaway did not touch the farmer. Taylor said while he was not bruised, Dunaway grabbed him by the sweater a number of times and finally declared: "I'm to get a duck on this farm tonight."

THE HOME GARDEN

Pruning Should Be Done For Definite Reason

By JACK G. BEASTALL

At present, the most frequent question is: "When do I prune my...?"

And the best answer is another question, "Does your... need pruning?"

After all, pruning is only a step to an objective. If the gardener is not seeking that objective—why prune?

Every pruning cut is made, or should be made, for a definite reason. The experienced gardener will never remove any portion of a plant until he has given careful consideration to the result his action may cause.

Examples of the indiscriminate use of pruning tools are to be seen all over the city. The value of the garden material which is butchered annually runs into hundreds of dollars.

Why home gardeners should be struck with this terrific urge to cut and trim is a question for which I have yet to find the answer. But, I think we all pass through this stage at some period of our gardening career; something like children and measles.

"SOMETHING TO CUT"

One of the most harmful things to have in a garden is a human being with a pair of secateurs, searching for something to cut.

The first rule of successful pruning is: Never pick up the secateurs until you have proof of a definite need to use them.

And the second rule is: The more you prune, the more you will get. In other words, a weak plant should be severely pruned to encourage growth; a vigorous, healthy plant should be pruned but lightly, if it is pruned at all.

Plants endeavor to replace any portion which we remove. Therefore, our object should be to remove only that portion, the replacement of which will be in line with our pre-arranged plan.

Chrysanthemums in various forms are native to every country except Australia.

U.K. Asks 130 Million Pounds Of Canada Bacon

OTTAWA (CP)—Britain wants more bacon from Canada in 1951 about four times as much as she received in 1950.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner disclosed this Thursday when he told the ninth annual Federal-Provincial Agricultural Conference that Britain is prepared to purchase 130,000,000 pounds of bacon from Canada next year.

In 1950, Canada shipped about 35,000,000 pounds of grade A Wiltshire sides, under a contract which called for shipments of 60,000,000.

Mr. Gardiner, declining to disclose the price offered, said it was one which might be considered reasonable under other circumstances. However, because it was not yet at a rate "where it ought to be," he did not believe the actual amount should be discussed.

Other sources said the price offered was about 29 cents a pound, the same Canada received in 1950.

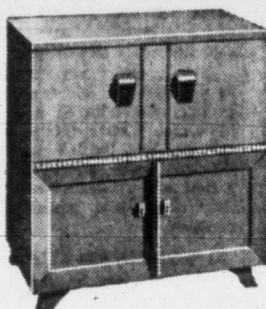

Delegates urged Mr. Gardiner to do everything he can to continue the federal subsidy on the movement of western feed grain.

SPORT WEEK

By JOHN LARDNER

Reprinted from Newsweek by special arrangement with the Victoria Daily Times.

There has to be a reason why Jake La Motta, the Bronx's answer to civilization, has agreed to defend the world's middleweight championship against Ray (Sugar) Robinson, in Chicago, next Valentine's Day. It cannot be accounted for by the fact that roses are red, violets are blue, Sugar is sweet, and Jake's heart is as big as all outdoors, or anyway, as a watermelon seed.

Lardner
Detroit, New York again, and Chicago, and lost to LaMotta once, in Detroit.

Chip Shots May Ruin Robbie

Robinson now is a bigger, smarter, and stronger boy than he was in those days. Most critics consider him the best fighter in the world. They figure he can beat Jake La-Tierra del Fuego, Ypsilanti, the Isle of Wight, or even (though the thought of such foolishness is enough to make both men turn pale from their eyebrows to their wallets) in the back room of a Bronx saloon with the door locked.

However, the critics may be wrong, and Mr. LaMotta, a shrewd observer, may be right. The Robinson who beat Jacob four times was a hungry lad. The Robinson who sailed for Paris, France, last week, with his wife, his golf pro, his manager, and his manager's wife, is said to own real estate that has more than doubled in value since he bought it from the Manhattan Indians for $24.

Notice that golf pro. That may be what LaMotta is thinking of. To own a golf pro, especially a portable golf pro, is a sure sign of decadence in a prizefighter. Joe Louis was never the same after he began to take golf lessons. It is something more than coincidence that LaMotta committed himself to the imprudence of a title fight as soon as he heard that Robinson was planning to practice supervised chip shots in the Champs-Elysees.

Then, when he started eating the Stadium pigeons, contrary to the regulations laid down by Happy Chandler, the groundkeepers knew he was a fox, and acted accordingly. If he survives he will be entitled by the statute of limitations to compete for Joe DiMaggio's job. We will not dwell on the problem this will raise for George M. Weiss, the Yankee general manager, confronted by a choice between DiMaggio and someone who will work for a quarter of Joe's pay. Suffice it to say that for weeks now, the ball park has rung with the sound of horns, barking of the fox, and hum of lawn mowers on the trail.

Eligible But Democratic

As a social leader in the Macomb's Dam section of the Bronx, Jake LaMotta naturally was eligible to hunt the fox, and he took note of the situation. Maybe Jake's temptation was strong, for some passers-by thought they heard him mutter "Yikes!" as he stared at the right-field side of the game preserve. On the other hand, maybe it wasn't, for other witnesses thought that the word he muttered was "Yikes!" At any rate, Jake remained as democratic as he ever was, which is the right way to vote in a borough bossed by Ed Flynn.

A fox hunt, as either Oscar Wilde or Milton Berle once said, is a case of the unspeakable in pursuit of the inedible. If Jake sticks to his guns, nothing of that sort will happen in his life—at least, not before next Valentine's Day, in Chicago.

THE LONG AND THE SHORT

Kirkwood, Turnesa Pacing Miami Open

MIAMI, Fla. (UP)—Joe Kirkwood Jr. and Jim Turnesa, who represent the "long and short of it" along the professional golfing circuit, were out in front at the start of second-round play today in the $10,000 Miami Open.

Kirkwood, Hollywood's husky "Joe Palooka," turned in a four-under-par 66 in yesterday's opening round, and that sensational

Quakers Top Stampede

SASKATOON (CP)—Saskatoon Quakers last night clipped Calgary Stampede 6 to 4 to take over sole possession of second place in the Western Canada Senior Hockey League.

The two teams had been deadlocked for second spot. Quaker defenseman Larry Zed led his team to victory with three goals. He had been scoreless until last night's game. Cec Allen, Jack Shupe and Red Hunter counted the other Saskatoon goals.

Sid Finney paced Calgary with two goals. Don Anderson and Johnny Millard completed the scoring.

John Caterall Wins For McMorrans

By the slim margin of a free shot, McMorrans won over Sidney in the last eight seconds of play in the Saanich and Suburban Basketball League last night. John Caterall was McMorrans' marksman for the penalty shot and netted the winning point.

McMorrans' intermediate girls emulated their seniors by taking a 25 to 12 win from McNutt's Loggerettes of the city league in an exhibition opener.

AUSTRALIA SCUPPERED AS TEST OPENS

Aussies Held To Second Lowest Total In Series

BRISBANE, Australia (Reuter) England's cricket team confounded the critics today by skittling Australia's powerful batting side for 228 runs on the opening day of the first Test match.

Bad light stopped play for the day before England could bat. Australia's total was their second lowest in the series between the two countries since the war, beating by only seven runs their 221 at Manchester, England, in 1948.

Encouraged by the dismissal of Jack Moroney without a run on the board, England bowled and fielded with great spirit.

Arthur Morris and Neil Harvey took the Australian score to 69 before Morris fell. Harvey and Keith Miller, Australia's most formidable bat, added 47 for the third wicket. But then Miller was out after scoring only 15.

The Australian batting collapsed. Four more wickets fell for the addition of 56 runs.

Harvey was caught out behind the wicket after a splendid knock of 74, which included 10 fours.

For England, Alec Bedser, Trevor Bailey and Freddie Brown, the captain, took the bowling honors.

The match, scheduled to last six days, is the first of a series of five tests.

Billy Burch, One-Time NHL Great, Dies

TORONTO (CP)—Billy Burch, a hockey great and one of the few players to win the two premier awards of the National Hockey League—the Hart and Lady Byng trophies—died last night after an illness of two months. He was about 50.

Burch broke into hockey as a junior in Toronto just after the First World War. His career ended when he broke his leg while playing for Chicago Black Hawks of the N.H.L. 15 years later in the 1932-33 season.

Although best known as a fast and clever center in both amateur and professional ranks, he was also a star football and lacrosse player. He was quarterback for Toronto Central Y.M.C.A. juniors when they won the Canadian junior championship and was outstanding for the Toronto Maitlands Lacrosse Team.

During the opening round, 31 of the field of 170 golfers got in under the regulation 70 strokes. As usual, the man watched closest by the fans and the pros was Sammy Sneed, the leading money winner of the year, who opened with a 69 despite the fact he was using borrowed clubs.

Haas Jr., New Orleans, was one of the few top stars off to a slow start. Haas, who shot a 66 in a practice round before the tournament, slipped to 71 in the opening 18 holes.

United In Bid To Vacate Coast League Cellar Spot

Victoria United could get out of the cellar this week-end. Manager Tommy Restell, looking for his second win over Vancouver City at Callister Park tomorrow, believes his team will be at least in third slot after Saturday's game. If the Westminster-St. Andrews tilt goes the right way at Queen's Park, United could find itself in a tie for second place.

No changes are contemplated in the line-up, though Restell has a problem in the fullback position, where four men are qualified to start.

They are Bill Findler, Tommy Druce, Joe Robbins and John Pickburn.

Robbins and Pickburn will likely get the starting assignment, but Restell feels that Druce is too valuable a player not to be used and he may see action at the defence post during the game.

TIDE SET FOR FIRST McKECHNIE CUP TILT

Starting Line-up Named For Match Against Vancouver Lions At Macdonald Park Saturday

The Crimston Tide is ready. Climaxing a month of rugged trials and conditioning, manager Bruce McLean and coach Sid Gaunt named the starting line-up at Macdonald Park last night.

At fullback will be Bays' clever Herb Alexander, 187 pounds, who is playing his first season in first-division Victoria rugby.

Lorne Prevost, 21-year-old veteran of the 1949 Crimston Tide, will play right wing three-quarters. On his left flank will be Wally Malcolm, and at right centre Art Hicks. Hicks has played with Vancouver Rowing Club for eight years and has been a member of several Vancouver rep teams. Left centre three-quarters is team captain Derek Hyde-Lay, who has played 16 years of Old Country rugby with such teams as London Scottish and Rosslyn Park Colts.

Ray Mitchell, well-known as a Canadian Football player with the Mustangs, will be at stand-off half; 17-year-old Dennis Stead, youngest member of the team, will be at scrum half. Hook will be Ed Bourke, a veteran of six years of English rugby play.

Spare forwards Reg Lott of Normal and backs Hugh Burnett and Harry Mark.

Ages of the team members range from 17 to 29, and the Tide is considered by rugby followers to be one of the strongest rep teams put together here since 1944, when the McKechnie Cup last came to Victoria.

His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace will kick off the first ball when the game gets under way at Macdonald Park tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

There will be a refreshment booth operating at the park for this game.

This will be VANCOUVER LIONS' only appearance in VICTORIA this season.

Leger Gambles As Cougars Earn Tie

Rough Game Ends As Mazur Scores With Seconds Left

It could have been any one of the six forwards Victoria had on the ice, but it was Ed Mazur who poked the puck past Tom Karakas to give Cougars a 2 to 2 tie at Portland last night.

Mazur took a pass from Flori Goegan after goalie Jerry Colnoir and the Cougar defence had been pulled off in the closing seconds of play. In a six-man rush on the net Mazur knifed the puck over the shoulder of the Portland goalie.

Until the final tying goal, Cougars had been trailing since the eight-minute mark of the third period, when Joe Cuman scored on passes from Hal Hopper and Dan Nixon.

It was a bruising game. Both teams were constantly short-handed as officials dealt out 44 minutes of penalty time.

Portland tallied first. Hugh Sutherland put the Eagles ahead midway through the first period. Victoria tied it up when Stan Long drove a whistling shot from well out.

Cougars will have two more chances to better their record when they meet Tacoma Rockets tomorrow night and Seattle Ironmen on Sunday.

Summary follows:

First Period—1. Portland, Sutherland (Sutherland, Samanski, 1:15). Penalties: Hopper, Nixon, Webster, Levine, Bailey, Densbury, Macdonald, Webster (miscellaneous).
Second Period—2. Victoria, Long (Evans, 19:45). Penalties: Hopper, Manur, 21:15.
Third Period—3. Portland, Cuman (Hopper, Nixon, 8:01; 4. Victoria, Mazur (Goegan), 18:27. Penalties: Frampton, Goegan.

MARYLEBONE CRICKETERS SCHEDULED TO PLAY HERE

Victoria will be included in the itinerary of the Marylebone Cricket Club on its tour of Canada next summer.

The announcement was made yesterday by Bill Anders, president of the Victoria and District Cricket Association. It is expected that the M.C.C. eleven will be here in late July or early August.

If sufficient backing can be obtained it is planned to hold the match on the open pitch at Beacon Hill Park. If funds are not forthcoming the game will probably go to Macdonald Park.

Leafs-Habs In 15th N.H.L. Tie

MONTREAL (UP)—The number of tie games in the National Hockey League this season is continuing to mount.

Of the 62 games played to date, 15 have ended in "Mexican Standoffs." The New York Rangers have figured in nine ties, Boston and Montreal have played five each, Toronto and Detroit four each, and Chicago three.

The latest deadlock turned up at the Forum last night when the Canadiens and the Maple Leafs played 60 minutes of scoreless hockey. Al Rollins, who now has performed in eight games this season without tasting defeat, made 20 saves in the Toronto net while Gerry McNell kicked out 17 shots in the Montreal cage.

The tie helped carry Montreal back into a deadlock with the Chicago Black Hawks for third place. Toronto, meanwhile, moved out to an eight-point lead over second-place Detroit.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

IT COULD BE VERSE

It was half-past eight by the clock on the wall as the Cougars arrived on the scene: Their rivals were ready as ready as could be; and the look on their faces was mean. The shrieking sound of a whistle so loud, that drowned out the roar of the crowd. Broke the tension that followed the playing of our National Anthem so proud.

The puck was dropped by the stripe-shirted ref and Abbott shot it to Burman: The winger in stride gave it a ride as he pirouetted, faked and spun. Into the corner went the circular disc and chasing like birds on the wing. Came Frampton and Long, and Leger and throng, as the fans they started to sing:

"Give us a goal, a marker, a counter, and put us ahead in the fray;
"We've every right to holler and chant, as we, our two bucks we did pay.
"We've had enough of these losses, these drubbings; we're here to see you win;
"So come on the Cougars, the Cougars, the Cougars; on you we've wagered a fin."

His saves were brilliant, the clearing superb, as Cotnoir arose to the heights. In stopping the Eagles, those high-flying birds; he was having one of those nights. The period ended, and with it applause, though there was no score on the board: The teams had played even, and even at that, none of the four thousand were bored.

It was half-past 10 by the clock on the wall as the Cougars entered the room. That housed their equipment, their jerseys, and where the trainer wielded a broom. It was a noisy crowd, this Cougar bunch, as they raucously shouted all:
"We've beaten the Eagles, the Portland Eagles; now show us the men of Hall."

The margin was slight, this wet Friday night, but no one cared for the score: The Cougars had won, and one goal had done it; then Patrick knocked on the door.
"My boys, you are wonderful, amazing, astounding; you've made me happy tonight:
"And Goeagan for you there's a bonus for flashing the only red light."

In the corner sat Roger, his forehead perspiring; his words full of praise for his boys.
"I told you we'd do it," he hollered, as he joined in the bellowing noise. The fans went home still chattering of how the Cougars had broken the jinx. And they smiled as they left the arena, and were rightfully joyous, methinks.

This hasn't happened as yet, but somehow we feel that it may: The Cougars are through being cousins; but where there's a will there's a way. And when such a result does occur, we'll all raise our eyes to the heavens: It matters not who gets the winner. Who knows? It might even be Evans.

Manager Con Smythe's big headache these days as the Toronto Maple Leafs roll along at the top of the National Hockey League race is whether to use Al Rollins, left, or Turk Broda in the nets. Broda, the fat man, is tied for league shutout honors with four, while Rollins, the thin man, has yet to be beaten this season. He blanked Canadiens in 0 to 0 tie last night.

Plans Advanced For 'Dry' Ski School Here

Canada's evergreen playground is going to have a ski school this winter. The prospect is almost a certainty after the enthusiasm shown by over 100 members of the embryo Victoria Ski Club at Newstead Hall last night.

Possibilities of the ski school were outlined by Dave Spence, Vancouver, president of the western division of the Canadian Amateur Ski Association. Spence said that the matter had been discussed with Pro Rec director Ed Kelter and that culmination of plans hinged largely upon the demand. A show of hands indicated that nearly all of the 105 skiers and prospective skiers in attendance were anxious to have a school.

Spence explained that a "dry" school was contemplated. This meant three weeks of conditioning and one week of actual instruction without skis. Since the course saves weeks of instructional time on the actual ski grounds, it has been very popular. Age will be no barrier; juniors and seniors both profit from the course according to the C.A.S.A. president.

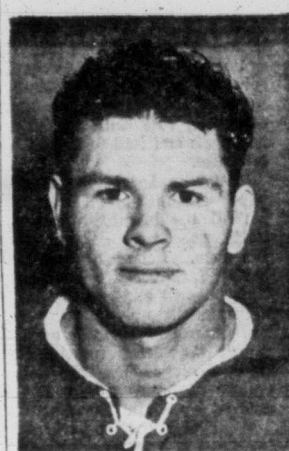

GET ACQUAINTED PARTY

Leo White, past president of the Olympic Ski Club at Port Angeles, Wash., extended an invitation to Victoria skiers to join the Americans at a banquet to be held here Dec. 16. The invitation got immediate and hearty acceptance from over 40 of those present.

Operations of the Olympic Ski Club were outlined by the Port Angeles visitor and by Larry Winter, who is in charge of the ski tow concession across the strait. The two ski tows at Deer Park are 600 feet and 1,100 feet long, respectively, and operate approximately 10 hours for 18 weekends during the winter. Winter estimated the cost of building a full-scale tow at from $1,500 to $2,000, but said, that portable tows operating at a capacity load of 15 persons over a length of 200 to 300 feet could be purchased for $500.

NEW OFFICERS ADDED

At the suggestion of the provisional club executive of Jack

FIORI GOEGAN celebrated his 23rd birthday at Portland last night by starting play that led to tying goal as Cougars came from behind to gain 2 to 2 draw with Eagles. It was the Cougars first game of a four-game road trip and their second straight draw at Portland. They play at Tacoma Saturday.

Junior Button Golf At Oak Bay

John McFirman and Ron Shea of Gorge Vale Golf Club will make their third defence of the city junior golf buttons Sunday meeting Terry Burns and Tommy Harris of Colwood. The match will be played at Victoria Golf Club starting at 12.

Injured Back Robbed Colbert Of Top Role In 'All About Eve'

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Charles Colbert isn't pulling in his chin and saying that she's delirious with joy over the rave notices Bette Davis is getting for "All About Eve." Claudette was all set to play the Margo Channing role until she injured her back and had to be replaced by Bette.

"It's like I told Jos Mankiewicz," she told me. "Every time I read the beautiful notices, a knife goes through my heart. It's fate. I had to break my back so that Bette could meet Gary Merrill and get the role of a lifetime."

Claudette is burning over the report that she's punching the time clock at U-I for only a couple of hours a day for her role of a nun in "Bonaventure."

"I'm working from early morning until 6.30 every night. This is a half day?"

The untold story on the appearance of Hollywood stars at the Command Performance in London is that Vera Ellen showed up in the presentation line to meet the King and Queen and was shoved back by an usher before she could even curtsy. She's still holding back the tears.

Inside word on the Ida Lupino

Robert Walker team-up is that Ida's wit and bounce are taking Walker out of his shell for the first time in years.

Maureen O'Hara's singing voice is ready for the big time. A record show-casing her warbling talents is making the rounds of the New York advertising agencies. The Hollywood Women's Press Club can take a bow for its annual Men's Day luncheon. Dorothy Shay stole the show with her warbling and her sleepy-eyed quip. "There's something about pianos—they're always pitched too high in the morning."

Gloria de Haven just dyed again. She'll be a strawberry blonde for her role in "Two Tickets to Broadway."

Walt Disney's music company has entered the holiday hit parade scramble with Perry Como's "Christmas Symphony."

Harold Lloyd heads for Europe and his first independent overseas film venture immediately after the release of his famous vintage comedy, "The Freshman."

He told me: "We just had a sneak preview of 'The Freshman' if I could make a picture today that would get the same kind of reaction on preview cards, I'd be very happy."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

The East player had no sense in today's hand. A sensible person would have settled for a small loss at five hearts rather than risk a big loss by letting South play the hand at four spades redoubled. However, if East had been sensible we wouldn't have noticed the spectacular defence needed to defeat the redoubled contract of four spades.

East had the right idea when he jumped to four hearts. His partner would have made that contract, and the opponents might have been shut out of a good spade contract. However, South was not to be shut out.

West's double of four spades was reasonable enough, and North had a good sporting redouble. East knew that he had no defence at all, and he should have run to the comparative safety of five hearts. It would cost only 100 points, whereas a pass might cost him over 1,000 points. But he stuck by his guns, and lived to tell the story.

West opened the ace at hearts, dropping South's king. It was clear to him that South had the missing five small spades and only one heart. South therefore had seven cards in the minor suits. It could not cost a trick to lead another heart. If dummy ruffed, of course, West would eventually get two trump tricks to add to the two red aces.

R.C.M.P. Has New Policy

The reputed motto of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police is not "We Always Get Our Man." It is "To Maintain the Right." Superintendent C. W. Harrison told members of the Electric Club, Supt. Harrison said the policy of the national police force today was to discourage the recruit who loved himself in uniform and tried to lord it over everybody.

"That sort of thing doesn't go any more and we are not interested in helping a young man of that calibre to realize his ambitions," said the deputy chief of the B.C. division.

He said R.C.M.P. officers also detested the term "state police" like the average Canadian citizen. The superintendent gave some figures to show the force's national conviction rate for varied offences during the year.

VANCOUVER (CP)—One logger was killed and another injured Thursday in an accident at Jervis Inlet.

As expected, South had to ruff in his own hand, discarding a diamond from the dummy. He led the four of spades from his hand and allowed West to hold the trick with the queen. West thereupon led a third round of hearts.

Once again South had to ruff in his own hand. At this point he had only two trumps left—the six and the seven. He led the six, finessing the nine from the dummy.

Now he could, if he so chose, get back with a club and take another trump finesse to pick up West's trumps. But he would eventually have to knock out the ace of diamonds, and West would then be able to take the rest of his hearts.

Therefore declarer had to let the trumps rest for a while. After winning the trump finesse with dummy's nine of spades, declarer forced out the ace of diamonds. Thereupon West led hearts for the fourth time!

This play obliged declarer to use up his last trump. West's trumps could not be picked up, and the contract was set.

It is usually horrible defence to lead a suit that declarer can ruff in either hand. In this case, West had to lead such a suit three times to defeat the contract! If West had led any other suit at any point, South's trumps would have lasted, and the contract would have been made.

NOSTALGIC TEARS SHED

One Of Few Remaining Leg Shows Winds Up In Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Connors for the shapely shank shed a nostalgic tear today. Burlesque was dead in Toronto for good.

One of the few emporiums of leg-art in Canada, the Casino Theatre, finally scrapped its girls-shows this week and turned to a new house policy—big name vaudeville and family entertainment.

The slow trend away from the striptease type of show began more than a year ago when the strippers themselves disappeared. The final blow was delivered Tuesday night when 13 scantily attired chorus beauties skipped off stage to the plaintive notes of "I'm Dancing with Tears in My Eyes."

With just a hint of a tear in her eye, Mother Haley, wardrobe mistress at the Casino for 15 years, finished her job and the dancing girls were out of work, temporarily at least.

Nostalgia aside, the chorus had to go if the Casino was going to become a place where mom and pop could take the kids.

The girls themselves took it hard although Jean "Didi" Farman probably showed it more than the others. As the last number finished she began crying on stage, continued as she made her exit and sobbed right into her dressing room.

HOLLYWOOD REVIEW

Midgets Sign Up For Job Of Showing Off New Toys

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How would you like a job playing with Christmas toys all day?

The pay is good and the working conditions excellent. The only requirement: You have to be less than four feet tall.

No use applying this year, because three movie midgets already have signed up. They are Jerry Maren, 30, Billy Curtis, 33, and Tony Boris, 32. Their job consists of playing with toys six to eight hours a day in the street window of a local department store.

Asked if they really enjoy the work, Maren replied: "You bet, we're having a barrel of fun."

"We like the job so much that sometimes it's hard to quit when the day is over. If we're playing to a big crowd, we sometimes work a little longer. It's just like doing a show. You hate to leave an audience."

"The only trouble is that we're all getting callouses on our hands and fingers from winding toys. I must have wound one of 'em 10,000 times."

The three men, attired in elves' costumes, spend the day working the mechanical toys, putting on comedy routines, and making faces to amuse the children.

Maren, an earnest, fast-talking fellow, explains that he and his partners are all about 3 feet, 11 inches. "We say three-eleven so we'll be under four feet," he added, indicating that it's important in his business. And "I work more than most other actors in pictures," he claims.

Barbara Hutton Says No Money For Troubtzkoy

NEW YORK (AP)—The attorney for heiress Barbara Hutton said Thursday her estranged husband, Prince Igor Troubtzkoy, could not expect one penny of her many millions.

"The princess has not the slightest idea or expectation of making any settlement whatever on the prince," said Samuel I. Hartman of New York, her counsel in the broken marriage.

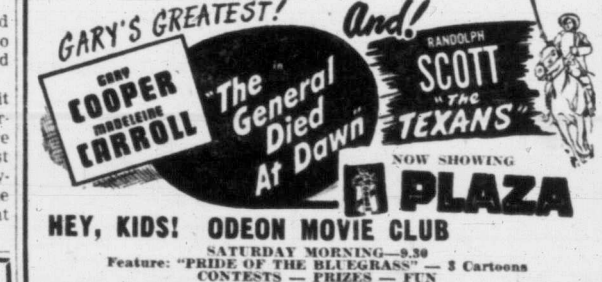

Neither, he told a reporter, is there any chance of the helpless becoming reconciled with the prince.

Hartman's comment came as attorney Melvin Belli of San Francisco reportedly arrived in New York to represent the prince in what appeared to be an approaching showdown in the ill-starred romance, the Woolworth heiress' fourth marriage.

So far no legal action has been filed by either party.

Representative Canadian Watercolors In Impressive Art Gallery Exhibition

By AUDREY S.L.D. JOHNSON

There is a great deal to look at and even more to discuss and think about this week and next at the Arts Centre, Broughton Street. The gallery is host during this period to 60 pictures; the representative work of the Canadian Society of Painters in Watercolor. More than half the pictures are on display this week and will be replaced by the balance next Tuesday.

Splendid workmanship and inspiration of a high quality are to be seen in the majority of the pictures and one feels they are significantly alive, imbued with a spirit of adventure and a profound expressiveness.

The ability to project a mood with great strength and simplicity is to be seen in "Newfoundland Wasteland" by Bruce Hunter. And it is really exciting when one finds off-done and fundamental subjects like Atlantic Surf and Stump and Rock rendered in a fresh, free and fearless manner. The former, by Campbell Tinning, is the more compelling of the two, having completely captured the audacity and violent action of the sea itself.

A CONTRAST

After contemplating these, the delicate and decorative geometric of Bertram Brooker's "Petals," the brilliant technique and lively color of Paraskeva Clark's "Presage d'automne" and the admirable composition, draughtsmanship—and expressiveness generally. It is all the more frustrating to be confronted with something which appears nothing more than the embryonic art of the kindergarten.

We refer specifically to Courtois's "Two Pears"; its presence in the show we found incomprehensible. Goldsmith's "Freedom from Want" has more pleasing qualities as far as application and feeling goes, but would convey little without its title.

Two pictures by B. Cogill Haworth, A.R.C.A., are masterpieces in conception, design and individuality. We also liked the spaciousness and understatement of Jocelyn Taylor's "Kingston Market" and the use of several mediums in "Hollow Lands," by John Martin.

DETAILS NOT REVEALED

Plagiarism Claim Aimed At 'Scarlet Letter'

By ANDY ANDERSON

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—A book has just been discovered from which the finder claims Nathaniel Hawthorne plagiarized "The Scarlet Letter."

An eminent literary scholar hints the 17th-century book may have been from the pen of William Shakespeare.

The book was found by Alfred Sandlin Reid, a University of Florida graduate student, and has been hailed by Dr. Harry R. Warfel, chairman of the American literature group of the Modern Language Association, this way:

"No other single piece of critical commentary is as important as Mr. Reid's to our understanding of one of the world's literary masterpieces."

"The Scarlet Letter" was published in 1850. It was Hawthorne's first major work, and his greatest.

Reid will not, at present, reveal the details of his find. He wants to wait until he has completed the research for his doctor's thesis.

In the book, Reid says, he finds the broad outline of the plot of "The Scarlet Letter," the unity of introduction, the elements of witchcraft and magic, the moralizing tone and precise details of characterization such as Hester Prynne's skill at needlework, and the humped back of Roger Chillingworth.

Dr. Warfel, commenting on the book, said cryptically: "The artistic kinship of Hawthorne and Shakespeare now seems indisputable. This discovery illustrates again a great imagination at work improving and turning into a noble work a tawdry source."

He would not clarify this statement.

Shakespeare lived from 1564 to 1616. Some of his works were published in the 1700s.

Reid now is preparing his findings and their implications. His book will be published by the university press and will contain reproductions of the works from which he says Hawthorne gained his inspiration and borrowed his data.

HOLLYWOOD HE-MEN NOT READY FOR TELEVISION

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Television may be ready for Hollywood he-men, but the he-men aren't ready for it, according to actor Robert Cummings.

They're too soft... their wind is too short... and they catch cold too easy.

"You have to be in terrific shape to do a television show," Cummings explained. "Especially the dramatic programs. They build the whole thing around the star—and if he catches cold, they're in terrible trouble."

Two New York television appearances just about did him in, Cummings said, and he was in pretty good shape to begin with.

"It's just like making a movie in an hour and a half," he went on. "You have three or four days to learn 120 pages of dialogue. You put on your own make-up. You handle your own wardrobe."

"On top of that, you have to dash like sixty from one scene to the other. And you can't be out of breath for your next line, either."

R.C.N. Men Honored For Rescue Of U.S. Airplane

American Legion Of Merit Awarded To Personnel Of Magnificent And Haida

OTTAWA (CP)—The dramatic rescue by the R.C.N. of 18 crew members of a United States aircraft near Bermuda, just over a year ago, culminated today in the announcement of four U.S. awards to R.C.N. personnel.

The U.S. Legion of Merit, degree of officer, was awarded to Surgeon Captain Eric H. Lee of Saskatoon and Ottawa, and to Lt.-Cmdr. Edward T. G. Madgwick of Ottawa. The same award, degree of legionnaire, was awarded to Chief Petty Officer William H. Roberts of Montreal and Petty Officer James E. Callighen of Toronto.

The four played leading parts in the rescue of crew members of a B-29 which crashed into the sea off Bermuda and drifted three days before its rescue on Nov. 19, 1949.

The Canadian aircraft carrier, Magnificent, and the destroyer Haida were diverted to assist in the widespread search for survivors of the crash. The Haida, directed by a search plane to a raft loaded

TREATED SURVIVORS

The citation for the award to Surg. Capt. Lee—now command medical officer of the Atlantic Command—reads, in part:

"Surgeon Captain Lee, having been transferred by boat from Magnificent to Haida in treacherous seas, administered to the needs of the exhausted and suffering survivors in an efficient and humane manner. His conduct was a credit to the high standards of both the naval service and the medical profession and his work was a highly essential part of one of the most extensive sea searches in the history of the western Atlantic."

Lt.-Cmdr. Madgwick, commanding officer of the Haida during the rescue and at present in command of the destroyer Huron, received his decoration for "exhibiting the finest type of seamanship—and permitting his ship's whaler to be dispatched to bring the survivors alongside Haida."

Now serving in H.M.C.S. Stadacona, Halifax, CPO. Roberts was gunnery instructor in the Haida and directed the lowering of the rescue crew when the survivors were brought alongside. His citation commended "his leadership and energy in directing his men."

CHOICES CRITICIZED

'Window-Box' Farmer Wheat Kings Protested

CHICAGO (CP)—Some Canadian agriculturists are not completely happy with the way wheat kings and world wheat champions are chosen.

Their basic beef is concerned with the variety of the samples judged best at Toronto's Royal Winter Fair—which names the world wheat champion—and at Chicago's International Hay and Grain Show.

The Royal Winter Fair made 12-year-old Ricky Sharpe of Munson, Alta., 1950 world wheat champion, while the Chicago Grain Show this week by-passed Ricky for veteran farmer R. P. Robbins of Shaunavon, Sask.

Pat O'Dwyer, agriculture editor of the Free Press Prairie Farmer, says the problem is this:

"Inevitably the trend will have to be toward division of commercial and show wheats. There may even have to be separate competitions for wheat that looks pretty and those that are indicative of the farm economy."

Dr. R. P. McCrostie, one of the grain show judges here and head of the field husbandry department of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, objects to "window-box farmers" who send samples to international grain shows for "publicity-seeking reasons."

For 14 of the last 15 years the wheat king title at the Chicago Fair has gone to an exhibitor of Reward wheat, no longer a popular commercial variety in Canada. But it looks good.

In Toronto this year, young Sharpe won the championship with a sample of Marquis, called "daddy of them all" by western Canada farmers. It's a great miller, but its popularity is waning fast because it is not rust-resistant.

LONDON (Reuter)—London today rounded out its wettest November in 10 years. During the month the British capital had 4.33 inches of rain—twice as much as usual.

By ART STOTT

When the kids were very small, they used to play "moving pictures." They'd cut a square hole in the end of an empty cornflakes box, put a flashlight in it and mount their "projector" on a chair by one wall. Then one of them would get behind the square frame of a folding fire screen on the other side of the room and give a performance in the patch of light the electric torch created.

The theme of the drama was known only to the actor and the pikes. It had no cohesion. It never made sense and the acting was poor. Even a fond parent was forced to admit it was a bum show. The affair always wound up in a jurisdictional dispute, too. Either the projectionist got tired of buzzing and clicking, like a faulty film on a spinning reel, and wanted to be the actor, or the actor got tired of miming and wanted to be projectionist.

MUCH AS PARENTS are irritated by kids' squabbles, that one had its merits. It broke up the game and the conscripted adult audience, after taking disciplinary action, could go back to more useful or enjoyable activities.

You're reminded of things like the youngsters' "moving pictures" when you listen to debates on television these days. You're reminded, too, of the lament a year or two ago by one of the founders of radio—that Lee De Forest—who cried "Look what they've done to my baby" as he protested the debauching of the medium he helped to create.

A lot of thinking people are worried about video, not because they fail to recognize its possibilities for good, but because they fear it may become little more than a means of providing shallow entertainment only. In a number of homes, that's what has happened to radio.

ON THE AIR ARE some of the finest programs man could want. Into the microphone, too, is thrown some of the sloppiest, sickliest gruel that has ever been half-cooked. An intelligent person should be able to separate the good from the bad. Many do. It's too easy, though, to tune in programs that require no thought at all.

There's nothing terribly wrong with that. Nonsense has its place. It would be a heavy stomach that was never shaken belly-laugh.

Radio's not strictly to blame for the inanities that pour through the amplifier into human ears and help to condition adults to viewing life in terms of a wisecrack or oozy sentimentality. That fault is usually attributable to human laziness.

MAYBE THE SAME thing applies to television. Commercial sponsors have a product or service to sell. They want, quite naturally, to get their names before the public. If the majority of the public would rather listen to or watch something that requires no mental effort, that's the potential buying field that promises the greatest returns.

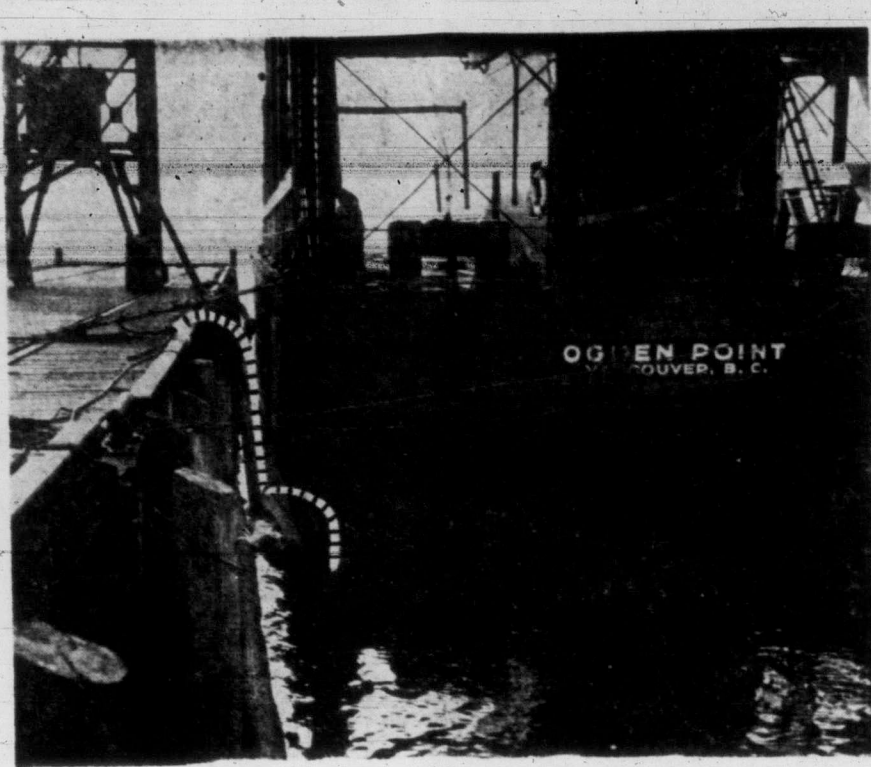

The solution to the problem can be phrased simply: All that's needed is a change in human nature. There are two or three side issues there. How are you going to reach the people who need to be changed? What technique should be used to change them? And who's to say what they should change to?

If you worry about the influence some programs you consider tripe seem to have on the public, you can take heart over the fact that the public finally gets fed up with anything—even the favorite radio sentimental and comedy.

THERE'S NO saying, though, that the listener you're worried about will switch the dial to something better. There isn't much hope of convincing him that he ought to change, either. If you try the reaction you'll probably draw the audience of a socially-conscious and educated woman drew from a bunch of seven and eight-year-olds. The kids, for the time being, were gangsters building a hideout as they blazed away at pursuing cops.

The woman, shocked by the anti-social type of play, gathered the youngsters together, noted the construction project and suggested they be birds, instead of gangsters, busy building a nest. She made it sound very attractive. Then, sure she'd won her point, she gambled on the question: "Now boys, what shall we play?"

The answer was unanimous: "Cops and robbers."

Where Barge Skipper Drowned

Farmers' Group Asks For Vote On Fast Time

Advisory Council of B.C. Farmers Institutes will ask the Provincial Legislature at its 1951 session to put the question of daylight saving to a vote of the people.

The farmers' board discussed the matter during its three-day meeting at the Parliament Buildings, which ended Thursday.

In addition to being a detriment to farmers, members felt daylight saving was a great inconvenience to a lot of other people.

The board also decided to ask the Legislature to consider setting up a new department of government to be known as the Department of Co-operation. This department, the board felt, could co-ordinate and supervise all co-operative marketing activity and aid in setting up more central agencies under producer control whereby primary products could be marketed.

The board went into the question of compulsory automobile insurance and it was agreed the Legislature should consider the possibility of having government insurance, financed through adding three or four cents per gallon of gasoline.

Under this system of insurance, the farmers observed, cars with gasoline in their tanks would be insured against accidents. Cars without gasoline, would not be on the road, and therefore would not be involved in accidents.

The board also decided to ask the government to provide more covering the valleys of the Agriculture; to ask the Public Works Department to assume full responsibility for drainage and not run water through farms, causing unnecessary erosion; to protest against the present system of school taxation; and also against the B.C. Power Commission's method of undertaking power development.

'MESSIAH' PUT BACK

Performance, Sabbath, Runs Foul Of Lord's Act

Attempt of Victoria Choral Society to schedule a paid performance of Handel's "Messiah" at the Royal Theatre Sunday, Dec. 17, ran afoul of the Lord's Day Alliance Act.

Instead, at an added $250 theatre rental, it will be presented the following night at the theatre.

In previous years performances have been given at Christ Church Cathedral, but the usual collection would be too small to pay for the cost of the production, which will feature about 200 artists.

When officials of the society approached Police Chief Blackstock regarding the Sunday performance, he suggested that they seek legal advice, but inferred that as far as he was concerned the Lord's Day Act would be upheld.

"I told them they were not within their rights," he said. The society had not planned to sell tickets at the door for the Sunday performance, but, according to Chief Blackstock, that made no difference in the interpretation of the act.

IN COURT

VICTORIA

A fine of $35 was imposed against motorist William A. Schneider, 867 Viewfield Road.

Through counsel James J. Proudfoot he pleaded guilty to a charge of dangerous driving. His car was in collision with one driven by Jessie Kinnear Nov. 19 at Johnson and Government Streets.

Joseph A. Weydert, 1115 Reno Street, was fined $10 for failing to dim his headlights. He pleaded guilty.

Young naval rating Harold Abbott was charged with theft of civilian clothing owned by fellow naval ratings, H.M. Shore, and E. Davidson, from Prince Robert House lockers.

Arrested by Detectives Angus Munro and P. W. Richards, he elected trial before Magistrate Hall and was remanded for plea.

Knife Fight Told At Local Hearing

Stab Victim Said Assault Made During Talk On Money Matters

Anton A. Konkin, 70-year-old Russian-born Victorian, was quoted by witnesses today as having said, "This is what I wanted to do and now I've done it," following his alleged knife-wounding of John Novak, 62, on Oct. 10 at 2571 Cook Street.

A dozen witnesses appeared before Magistrate H. C. Hall in city court in the preliminary hearing of Konkin on the wounding charge of his fellow countryman.

Magistrate Hall adjourned the hearing to Tuesday for completion.

Novak, who suffered two knife wounds in the back, one collapsing his right lung, testified that he and Konkin were talking about money matters at his home. Konkin suddenly pulled out a knife and stabbed him several times during a grim struggle.

Mrs. Mary L. Wood, who occupies a basement suite in the Novak home, and Mrs. Novak said they heard a scuffle upstairs.

Mrs. Novak said she heard her husband yell: "Oh, Oh, come and help me. Anton is going to kill me."

Evidence was that both women rushed upstairs and with the aid of brooms managed to force Konkin out the rear kitchen door, the bleeding and wounded Novak aiding, holding Konkin's wrists.

Mrs. Wood said she did not see a knife, but quoted Konkin as saying he had done what he wanted to do.

Mrs. Novak said Konkin had a knife in his hand—similar to a wooden-handled knife with a five-inch blade entered as an exhibit.

A physician testified two types of blood, A and O groups were on the knife.

Mrs. Novak said Konkin had the knife in his hand when he was pushed out the door.

FOUND IN BASEMENT
Konkin was later found sitting in a chair in the basement at 2578 Cook Street with pools of blood around him. The knife was found in the basement.

A physician said Konkin had a deep cut on the right hand, a slash on a forearm and three wounds in the upper abdomen, none going into the abdominal cavity.

C. L. Harrison, prosecutor, asked Dr. Leonard Bapty if wounds suffered by Novak might cause death.

The doctor said it was quite possible.

On hospital guard duty in Konkin's room in the Jubilee Hospital, Constable Keith Hollett said he wrote down statements, not made to questions, made by Konkin.

Residents Favor 'Central Saanich'

Ratepayers of Ward 6 in Saanich, now seceding to form their own municipality, have agreed on the name of "Central Saanich."

According to Arthur Ash, M.L.A., Municipal Affairs Minister R. C. MacDonald preferred a name without the word "Saanich" but added that his department would probably approve any unanimous choice of the residents.

Choice was made from among 35 names submitted, and voted upon at a meeting Thursday of the ratepayers.

A legislative team—Senator and Mrs. R. L. Neuberger

Noted U.S. Writer Here To Investigate Welfare Act

Investigating Canada's Family Allowance Act for the New York Times are Senator and Mrs. Richard L. Neuberger, prominent journalists and members of Oregon's state government.

Senator Neuberger sits in the upper house, while his wife is a member of the state house of representatives.

They spent the morning interviewing officials and individual families, and will write a series of articles on the application of the act here.

"This kind of welfare work is unique as far as the United States is concerned," the young legislator said. "Our welfare work helps the aged. Here you have started at the other end of the ladder."

Working almost entirely on assignment, he has had many articles on the Pacific Northwest published in United States magazines. His latest work in The Saturday Evening Post will appear in the same issue as an article about Victoria in the "Cities of America" series.

Another recent job was a review of "The Fraser," by Bruce Hutchison, for the Saturday Review of Literature.

"This is the finest piece yet in the 'Rivers of America' group," he said.

Senator Neuberger has visited Victoria several times in connection with his work, first as "Mister," then as U.S. Army "Captain," and now as "Senator."

"I don't care what the next title is, as long as it isn't 'captain' again," he laughed. "The war situation doesn't look good."

They make their home in Portland.

SHOPPING GUIDE

A Hundred Pennies Pays For Many Useful Gifts

By PENNY SAVER

With dollar bill in pocket this morning, I continued scouting shops and department stores for their wares of a dollar or less. My good friend Mabel was duly impressed with yesterday's happy dollar tidings so that today I was prompted to venture once again into the depths of pennydom.

For the men in your life, you may choose all-wool shrink resistant grey, navy, brown, maroon or green socks, 89 cents; nylon and wool cushion soled socks in beige, green, brown, maroon or white, $1 pair. From England come all-wool socks for the little shavers, sizes 7 to 10.

ThriftyNifty

To remove ice cream stains: Sponge with warm water, then cleaning fluid.

at 85 cents a pair. The socks are styled with turnover elastic tops in colors of brown, grey and blue.

To keep fingertips warm there are brushed wool gloves in grey, green and heather mixture, selling at $1 a pair; boys sizes 4 to 8, 89 cents.

For midday there are the practical yet dressy boudoir boxes. Satin quilted with six compartments to hold hosiery, colors include green, pink and blue, 89 cents. Floral patterns, 98 cents; the square type, just the size to hold gloves, hosiery or handkerchiefs, plastic or satin quilted, 89 cents; set of three hangers in colors blue, rose, pink, lime, green, plastic quilted, tied with ribbons, 69 cents.

Novelty to the word go, are the pottery green-leaved yellow-potted plants with colorful plastic measuring spoons rearing their little heads to create a flower-like effect, yours, for 89 cents.

Recordings are another item to consider in this dollar category. Fun for the young'uns comes in the size of 45 r.p.m.'s with offerings such as "Night Before Christmas," jingle bells fantasy, with poems enclosed, all for 85 pennies, on standard-sized record, $1.25; Hansel and Gretel sung to music of Gilbert and Sullivan melodies. The envelope contains cut-out toys and price tag of 59 cents.

For the record collector, why not a storage album for 45 r.p.m. recordings or the standard 10-inch album, 98 pennies. A single needle might be a welcomed gift, especially if it's a needle that gives you 5,000 plays.

This winter, some of the hats are so head-hugging, there's no place left to put the earrings. But that doesn't mean you can't wear earrings. Attach them to that section of your hat which covers your ears. Or, if yours is a hat which tilts, use only one ear, leaving two earrings to the one ear exposed, one on the lobe and the other on the top of the ear.

Ice Cycles Cast Has Trouble Keeping Weight For Show

Mrs. Rita Palmer, Port Arthur, Ont., seated, production co-ordinator and wife of assistant manager of the Ice Cycles show, watches the "weigh-in" of Helen Emerick, Pittsburgh, Pa., while Shirley Winter, tall Vancouver blonde featured in a solo in the opening number "Winged Irridescence," waits her turn. Girls are wearing leotards, brief, form-fitting costumes used in rehearsals, for benefit of photographer. Usual weighing-in costume is panties and bra.

Local girls who worry over that extra piece of pie or cake adding to their weight and who promise themselves to "cut it out tomorrow," have no worries as compared to feminine members of the Icecycles of 1951 who must stay at a given weight for weeks at a time—or else!

There's a weigh-in hour once every week and at that weigh-in, girls must not vary more than a pound or two, from their recorded weight, either way. "If we do weigh more," attractive Helen Emerick, Pittsburgh, Pa., tells you, "we are told to ease up on our meals."

"It works the other way too,"

It's a neat trick to tuck a surprise into a dinner pail. Try tucking in the drumstick from Sunday's chicken instead of the usual sandwich. Add salads, fruit sauce and puddings once in a while. They're easy to pack if you buy paper cups with covers, or save small glass jars. Soup or a milk shake fills a vacuum bottle as easily as coffee or cocoa, and make a welcome change. A "surprise" envelope of pickles, nuts, raisins or a wedge of cheese, is another idea for future reference. And always use your ingenuity when packing a lunch. Let the "surprise idea" help you make them a pleasure rather than a bore.

If you're caught short of extra cookies, try this substitute... Cut some slices of bread fingerlength and one inch wide. Roll the slices in evaporated sweetened milk and then in shredded coconut. Broil about six inches from the flame until the "fingers" are lightly browned. Serve hot or cold.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

Woman's Happiness In Marriage Blighted By Hatred Of 16-Year-Old Daughter

Dear Mary Haworth: I am 36, my husband is 39, and we have been married 18 years. We live in the country, own our farm and have three children—Susan, 16; Tim, 15, and the baby, aged two years. We could have a lot of pleasure and happiness if it weren't for Susan, who is wrecking our home. She is a very pretty girl and an honor student, but all her life she has thought only of herself, and of recent years she has almost driven me out of my mind. I have gotten so I hate her, which is a horrible thing for a mother to say, but it is the truth.

How can she be so smart at school and so stupid at home?

She can't do the simplest thing and do it right. My husband or I can explain something to her 20 times, and she will go right back and do it wrong. I design and make our draperies and slip covers, braid rugs, crochet, knit, love to paint and decorate furniture when I find the time; do all the family sewing, etc., but do you think I can teach Susan any of these things? No, not even cooking. She just stares at me in a blank way. She doesn't talk back, just offers a passive resistance that is enough to drive one mad.

GIRL'S APPETITE SEEMS ABNORMAL

When Susan was small we loved her as we have loved all our children. We've always done everything we could for them and her, but she is so self-centred. She takes and takes, but never gives any love or a thought to anyone but Susan. She is dirty and slovenly around the house; does nothing but sit and read or brush her hair. She expects me to keep her clothes in order, do all the housework and outside chores and care for the baby, while all she does is study, dress up and go to school.

Tim is no angel, but if we correct him he will say he is sorry and try to do better. Susan has never admitted she could be wrong. She has no love for her father or brother, although I believe she does love the baby. She is so greedy that if there is a piece of cake or pie left from dinner she will grab it and say "It's mine" and eat it herself. Instead of dividing with Tim.

MOTHER THROTTLES GIRL'S CHARACTER

Dear S. S.: You are a dreadful mother to Susan. Your attitude and tactics, vain and heartless where she is concerned, are almost enough to destroy her. Yet you add insult to injury by shirking about her numb defensive reaction to your bullying "rejection" of her—which probably became your consistent tone Susan after Tim's birth when she was barely a year old.

One of the more revealing facets of your story is your personal complacency. You can do anything and everything—except love Susan—and do it well. You are a paragon of all the home-making virtues, to hear you tell

"There was some heavy dieting then, I can tell you."

every member of your family at once, you'll find everyone pleased when you serve the following dessert:

HONEY COCONUT DELIGHT

To prepare: Sauté coconut in butter until golden brown, stirring constantly. Add crumbs and mix well. Press half of mixture in bottom of 9x9x2-inch pan. Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add honey and lemon juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Then fold in whipped evaporated milk. Place this mixture over the coconut-crumbs mixture in pan and top with remaining coconut and crumbs. Chill until firm. Cut in squares. Makes 8 servings.

Everyone had a chance to get acquainted with everyone else at the happy party arranged at the tea hour yesterday in the Victoria Avenue home of Mrs. A. Cowie by the executive of Rotary Ladies' Auxiliary for 100 members and prospective members.

Spacious rooms were decorated in the Christmas theme with silvered sprigs of broom mixed with cotoneaster. Bronze chrysanthemums complemented the soft tones of the walls and to complete the Christmas effect, red candles in silver holders were glowing in the rooms.

An Italian cut work cloth covered the candlelit refreshment table, which was centred with tiny pine boughs. Gay Christmas balls and silver leaves were intermingled with the pine to form the striking effect.

Mrs. A. Kerr, vice-president, and Mrs. A. Lindsay, past president, poured at the head table.

Pre-School Play Groups Exchange Ideas At Meeting

More than 40 mothers representing pre-school play groups at James Island, Jordan River, Chemainus, Cordova Bay, Colquitz, Cathedral, Garden Library, Winter Play Group, First Baptist and James Bay, attended the Vancouver Island Co-operative Play Group Association last Wednesday in the James Bay Hall.

The James Bay hostess group, under leadership of Mrs. Roland Webster, presented an interesting display of toys, books, records and a Christmas project suitable for the pre-school child.

Various child leaders shared practical ideas and suggestions and reported on their study groups and other activities.

Mrs. W. W. McGill, president, read excerpts from the Vancouver Co-operative Play Group bulletin and told of receiving a report on pre-school activities in New South Wales and a copy of their new Taronga song book.

Norman Vanness of the City Health Department showed the picture "Your Children and You" dealing with mental hygiene aspects of the care and training of infants and pre-school children. A discussion period followed.

Mrs. May Davies thanked the speaker and refreshments were served.

Next meeting will be held the fourth Wednesday in February in Cathedral Hall.

QUOTA CLUB TOLD

Difficulties Of Speech Defects Met In Schools

Miss Marie C. Crickmay, speech therapist of schools of Greater Victoria, told members of Victoria Quota Club, the manner in which those suffering from different speech defects are guided into helping themselves.

"We help them to become a part of society," the speaker said, "and in so doing to cure themselves of their difficulties."

The meeting was held yesterday evening in the form of a supper at Old England Inn.

Miss Crickmay tabulated the types of speech troubles encountered in schools, placing them in two classes, functional and organic and by so doing, members of the club were able to clearly understand the great benefit given children attending schools today.

When the speech defects department was opened in Victoria schools, more than 10 years ago, Miss Crickmay said, most of the students, needing care and directions, were in upper grades of high or junior high schools.

Now the largest numbers are to be found in the first three years of school, proving, the speaker concluded, "that tremendous strides have been accomplished."

Burgess Bedtime Story

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

The test of courage is known to all. With every moment strained and tense. —Old Mother Nature.

A leader without courage is never a leader for long. Leadership without courage soon ends. And there is no greater test of courage than long suspense when danger threatens. Pilot, the leader of a school of the small Whales, too often wrongly known as Blackfish, was proving his right to leadership. He was meeting the test of uncertainty and long suspense with courage that refused to be destroyed by the panic of those behind him. When folks are so frightened they do not know what they are doing they are said to be in a panic.

MANY IN PANIC

Most of those behind him, especially the younger Whales, were in a panic. Only the few older ones were keeping their heads and not trying to rush ahead blindly. They were showing courage, too, and a lot of common sense. This doesn't mean that they were not frightened. They were frightened. They were terribly frightened. Never before had they been with land on both sides of them so close that there was only a narrow channel with water deep enough for them to swim, and it gave them a terrible feeling. Never before in all their lives had they been where there wasn't plenty of deep water all around them so that they could swim in any direction. Now they felt, I suspect, very much as you and I would feel in a narrow passage between high walls, not knowing if we could get out at the other end.

On one side was a long island. On the other side were marshes of the mainland. Behind them was the harbor into which they had been driven by their deadly enemy, a Killer Whale whom they called the Terrible One. He was too big to follow them in that narrow channel behind the island. The water in the channel wasn't deep enough for him. So he was waiting in the deep water of the harbor for them to come back, as he was sure they would have to. Would they, or wouldn't they? That was the question. Barker the Seal, who was excitedly watching from the shore of the island, wondering, Graywing the Gull and his fellow Gulls, following overhead and screaming as if trying to scream their heads off, wondered. Truth to tell, Pilot himself, so boldly, so daringly, leading them, wondered. There had been a passage around that island opening into the open ocean at the other end. He knew because once when he was young and much smaller he had been through it. But that was a long time ago and now that passage might not be deep enough for them to get through.

AN EXCITING SCENE

Almost as soon as they were in the channel one of those behind, rushing ahead wildly in his fright, had left the deep water and gone aground. Such an exciting scene as followed! Never had Barker or the Gulls seen any thing like it. He thrashed and floundered and sent the water flying in sheets in all directions. Fortunately for him he was not badly aground and succeeded in getting back into deeper water after a brief struggle. But it frightened his already badly frightened companions still more, with the result that soon another was in trouble on a mud flat.

TWO JAMMED

This one, too, got off after a while, for the mud was soft and the flat was narrow. Two got jammed in a narrow part of the channel. Such a time as there was then! No wonder the Gulls screamed and Barker the Seal barked.

Only Pilot and the older ones kept their heads, and by keeping in the middle of the channel, swimming slowly and watch-

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDERD

Because, from earliest infancy, the baby's mealtimes do not coincide with the parents', the baby becomes accustomed to eating alone. Even when he is on three meals, it may be expedient to feed him after the family breakfast; alone at noon, if his mother makes no ceremony of this meal and before the regular family meal at night.

There are advantages in allowing a child to eat alone which should be recognized. When he eats alone he gets some adult's undivided attention. It is always less annoying to a mother to have to feed the child, or help with his feeding, if she isn't trying to eat her meal at the same time.

Children eat very slowly. They dawdle. They play between mouthfuls. They may take three-fourths of an hour to eat a meal that a speedier eater could consume in ten minutes.

The tendency is to hurry the child; to be critical of his dawdling, to scold and prod him and this results in two unhappy situations. The child deliberately dawdles to snare extra parental notice, or he sours on eating because it is made so unpleasant a ceremony.

Table manners come in for disagreeable criticism when the child eats with the family. "Can't he learn to use his spoon?" says Father, testily. "He's al-fully kept out of serious trouble. Not that they were not frightened and worried. They were. They were in suspense, rather, dreadful suspense, hoping but not sure that they would be able to get back to the ocean. If the could not get through that other outlet they were trapped indeed. It was a dreadful thought.

ways got his fingers in his food." And that old cutting remark, "He ought to be old enough, etc., etc."

Let the baby put food to his mouth with his fingers. It's much more important that he learn to be independent in his eating, than that he learn quickly to be neat. He'll find it easier to pick up particles and chunks of food, than to load them on a spoon and get it safely to his mouth.

There are other obvious disadvantages when the small child is at a table with much older children or with adults. Children are easily distracted from the business at hand. They want to hear what this one and that one says. So they forget all about food and their eyes and ears are fixed on the persons around them.

It doesn't take long for a child of three to four years to learn to imitate good table manners when he is exposed to them. Up to that time he might better eat at a different hour from the family, and eat alone so that he may be untidy, poky and awkward without anyone paying too much attention to him, because of it.

Our leaflet No. 35, "Poor Appetites," enumerates the ways in which too much parental attention can encourage lack of appetite. Obtain this leaflet by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Plan A Christmas Buffet

Gleaming silver, a gift tree, and light refreshments make an attractive Christmas Eve buffet.

Cold Weather Taste Treat Orange And Cranberry Pie

Here is a pie recipe combining the popular holiday fruits, cranberries and oranges. It gives the perfect "tangy" finish to a winter meal. What's more, with its twisted lattice top, it looks as good as it tastes.

Proof of a good pie, as every woman has been told by her husband, is in the crust. And pie crusts are easy to make, practically failure-proof if you follow the recipe given below. All measurements are level.

Pastry for two-crust 9-inch pie:

Peanut Butter Fudge

The next time, the weatherman keeps you in over the weekend why not make some peanut butter fudge?

Mix three cups of granulated sugar with half cup water. Boil to about 230 degrees. Then add two tablespoons of peanut butter and boil until the mixture forms a soft ball when dropped into a glass of water.

Pour the syrup into a shallow glass or enamel pan. Allow to cool slightly, then stir with a heavy spoon until creamy. Add half cup of finely cut nuts and stir until the mixture is smooth. Then knead until it becomes soft and press into a buttered pan. Cover with waxed paper and set aside until firm. Then cut into squares.

Subway Planned For Auckland

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP) — A transport scheme to cope with the growth of Auckland, New Zealand's fastest-growing city, has been recommended to the government by two English experts brought to the country to study the problem.

Early features of the scheme alone would cost from $15,000,000 to $21,000,000, including an underground railway based on the London tube system.

The experts, Sir William Halcrow, English engineer, and J. P. Thomas, leading transport authority, recommended the building of a tube railway under the centre of the city as the start of an underground system. They urged the electrification of all existing suburban railways, and made numerous proposals for changes in the present lines, stations and marshalling yards.

Here's A Christmas Gift From The Whole Family, Boxes Of Good Cookies

Here's a change to get the whole family into the act. Give boxes of home-made cookies as Christmas gifts this year—and solicit help on this project from everyone in the house.

The baking had better be your exclusive responsibility unless you are blessed with a talented pastry chef among your brood. But the packaging is a fun thing that everyone can help with—yours and old alike.

If you paint discarded oatmeal cartons an even, bright color with poster paint, your youngsters can paste on holiday-looking cutouts—from last year's cards or from December magazines. Or use a small wicker basket, done up with a cluster of ornaments fastened to the handle. Fill it with cookies now, and then let it double as a summer pocket-book carry-all next year. Those clear plastic refrigerator boxes make a see-through kind of package—particularly festive-looking with a fat red satin bow atop, and a bunch of holly poked through the ribbon.

Cookies that travel by mail survive best in a firm container. Consider an empty coffee tin—painted and done up with pasted-on stars—or a wonderfully spacious three-pound tin of any sort (after all of the contents have been used, of course).

Since you'll need lots of cookies, we suggest you start with one basic cookie mix. This can be combined with a variety of ingredients to make several types of cookies, such as spicy fruit dreams, almond spritz, and others.

Here is the basic mix:

Five cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 pound crisco (2½ cups), 1 tablespoon salt.

Combine flour and salt on a square of paper 20x20 inches. Cut crisco into flour with a blender or two knives until pieces are the size of small peas. Store in covered container until ready to use. Refrigeration is not necessary.

SPICY FRUIT DREAMS

Stir together 2 cups basic cookie mix, 1 cup light brown sugar, ½ teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon cloves, ½ teaspoon allspice.

Add and stir vigorously 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons orange juice.

Blend in 1½ cups chopped nuts, 1½ cups chopped dates.

Drop from teaspoon to a lightly greased cookie sheet. Bake at 375 degrees F. for 10 to 12 minutes.

Makes four dozen two-inch cookies.

OATMEAL COOKIES

Stir together 2 cups basic cookie mix, 1½ cups light brown sugar, 1 teaspoon soda.

Add and stir vigorously 1 egg, 2 tablespoons grated lemon rind, 2 teaspoons lemon juice.

Blend in 2 cups rolled oats.

Shape into roll two inches in diameter. Wrap in waxed paper. Chill several hours. Slice and bake on a lightly greased cookie sheet at 375 degrees F. for eight to 10 minutes. Makes three to four dozen cookies.

ALMOND SPRITZ

Stir together 3 cups basic cookie mix, ¼ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon baking powder.

Add and stir vigorously 1 egg, 1 tablespoon water, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1 teaspoon almond extract.

Place on lightly floured board. Roll to about ¼-inch thickness. Cut with holiday cookie cutters.

Parish Bazaar

Sacred Heart Parish held its annual bazaar in Lake Hill Community Hall. The affair was opened by Rev. G. Penfold, pastor of Sacred Heart Parish.

There were many stalls which were attractively decorated by the various convents. A cold chicken supper was served. Guests were welcomed by Mrs. M. Houston, general convener, and president of the Lake Hill Division of the Catholic Women's League.

Amateur house painters take note. When painting or varnishing doors or cupboard, cover the hinges with vaseline. Then any paint that gets on them can be wiped off easily.

Decorate with colored sugar. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet at 425 degrees F. for eight to 10 minutes. Makes three to four dozen cookies.

FROSTED ORANGE TREATS

Stir together 2 cups basic cookie mix, ½ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon soda.

Add and stir vigorously 1 egg, ½ cup orange juice, 2 tablespoons grated orange rind.

Drop from teaspoon to ungreased cookie sheet. Bake at 375 degrees F. for 10 to 12 minutes. Cool. Ice with orange icing. Makes three to four dozen cookies.

ORANGE ICING

Two tablespoons crisco, 1½ cups confectioners' sugar, 1 egg white, 1 tablespoon orange juice, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind.

Blend together crisco, sugar, orange rind and egg until fluffy. Add orange juice. Beat until creamy.

Vinegar will help tenderize meat. A few drops added to the water in which meat is cooking reduces cooking time.

The Swiss have a salad that's good on any cold evening. It's called "Kraut-Salat," or cabbage salad. Simply take finely shredded raw white cabbage and mix it with a dressing made of oil, vinegar, salt and pepper. Or one made of sour cream and vinegar. Then sprinkle with caraway seeds.

CHAMPAGNE FOR MOTLEY FORCE

'U.N. Troubleshooters' Welcome Dangerous Missions In Korea

By WILLIAM H. BURSON

SONGCHON, Korea (UP)—Maj. Paik Young popped the cork from a bottle of Russian champagne and poured the bubbling liquid for those gathered in the dusty office.

They were a lieutenant-colonel in the North Korean Army, a former woman spy for the North Korean Army, a Korean police chief, two U.S. army officers representing the infantry and counter-intelligence, and an enlisted GI.

Maj. Young, himself a Chinese-American officer of the U.S. 2nd Division, sipped his champagne appreciatively out of a Japanese sake cup.

IVANHOE FORCE

"So you want to know about the Ivanhoe security force," he said. "Well, the story is as fabulous as the tale of how we got our supply of Russian champagne."

He waved a hand at the assembled company. "Where would you find such a collection of characters drinking champagne together?"

The 38-year-old former professional big game hunter from San Francisco proceeded to tell of the band of 350 Korean volunteers he commands. It is an extra-military organization, he said, "wooded by the South Korean divisions, feared by the Communists, officially claimed by no one, and frequently in everybody's hair."

The highly mobile unit works where needed, principally to restore order in liberated towns and cities by establishing competent police forces. Also, singly and collectively, its members carry out "more dangerous" missions such as:

Intelligence missions behind enemy lines, ferreting out underground Communists, chasing down guerrillas, apprehending enemy soldiers who have infiltrated civilian populations, and actual combat when necessary.

Young, formerly an officer in the Chinese Nationalist army, calls his men the "United Nations' Troubleshooters." He said the idea belongs jointly to him and Maj.-Gen. L. B. Keiser, commander of the 2nd U.S. Division.

"The force was founded during the dark days of the Pusan beachhead," the San Franciscan said. "Each volunteer must accomplish three missions before he is permitted to wear the 2nd Division's famed Indianhead shoulder patch."

"That accounts for the group's name—Ivanhoe is the 2nd Division's code designation."

C.P.A. Increases Pacific Fleet

Two more four-engine aircraft have been added to the Trans-Pacific fleet of Canadian Pacific Airlines, company officials announced at Vancouver today.

This means a total of five four-engine planes are operating over the company's international routes from Vancouver to the Antipodes, and over the northern route to Tokyo and Hongkong.

The new aircraft are DC-4s, which the company recently purchased in the United States.

TREE TRIMMER HAD WRONG EXPERIENCE

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—

The city civil service office advertised for tree-trimmers to cut deadwood from the city's trees.

"What experience have you had in tree trimming?" asked the interviewer of one applicant.

"Well," said the applicant, "I have trimmed our Christmas tree at home for 30 years, so I thought—"

P.S. — He didn't get the job.

Flat Rate Phone Service Proposed For Large Metropolitan Area

If present proposals are accepted, telephone toll charges will be eliminated between Victoria, Albion, Belmont and Colquitz exchanges. In place of the present system of inter-exchange charges, all telephone subscribers in the flat rate area will pay the Victoria telephone rates.

As the Victoria exchange is already dial-operated and plans have been announced for the conversion of Albion, Belmont and Colquitz to automatic (dial) operation, fulfillment of the present proposals would mean complete automatic telephone service and free calling throughout the large metropolitan area served by the four exchanges.

What Flat Rate Service Would Mean To You

Here is the telephone picture, if and when the flat rate plan comes into effect:

As all telephones in the four exchanges would then be dial-operated, the flat rate plan would enable a call to be placed swiftly between any two telephones in the metropolitan area, without the intervention of an operator.

But if the present system of inter-exchange tolls is retained, any call from one exchange to another would have to be given to an operator, who would make out a ticket and then dial the called number. Obviously, this would result in slower service and more chance of error.

Victoria now has 31,830 telephones; Albion has 746; Belmont, 804; Colquitz, 1,161. So, based on present figures, the free calling area would embrace 34,541 telephones, and the total would probably be greatly increased by the time the plan came into effect.

What You Would Pay

As under the flat rate plan, Albion, Belmont and Colquitz subscribers would have free access to the same number of telephones as Victoria has, they would pay the same rate as the Victoria subscribers.

Therefore, the Company is now mailing ballots to Albion, Belmont and Colquitz subscribers, asking them to indicate whether they favor the present arrangement or the new proposal which would eliminate inter-exchange tolls.

How Soon Can The Change Be Made?

If the flat rate plan were put into force the volume of calling would increase greatly. This traffic could not be handled by the existing facilities. Therefore if the flat rate plan were endorsed, the change could not be made until conversion to automatic operation of the Albion, Belmont and Colquitz exchanges, approximately two years from now.

Costly Boats Of Early Days Here Had Short Lives

Adventures that took place in the days when paddle-wheelers plied their way up and down the waters of B.C. were recounted by Willard Ireland, provincial librarian and archivist, to members of the Victoria Men's Club Thursday night.

Mr. Ireland described the side and stern-wheel vessels that operated in these parts and explained that while they cost a lot, they didn't last long.

It was expected that a boat over 12 months old would blow up and sink at any time, he said.

Mr. Ireland told how one ambitious captain got his river boat up the Columbia to Revelstoke. He undertook the trip, thinking he could cash in on a gold boom. The trip took so long, however, that when he reached his destination, the boom was over and he had to make the return trip carrying penniless prospectors.

Teachers Continue Fight For Right Of Public Office

Teachers will continue to press for amendment of the provincial statute prohibiting them from holding municipal office, it was decided at a recent meeting of the B.C. Teachers' Federation. The executive expressed regret that the Union of B.C. Municipalities at its last convention failed to support the teachers' claim for a right to run in civic elections.

Teachers contend the present restrictive legislation makes them "second-class" citizens.

The salary committee of the federation reported its favored teachers seeking further wage increases in accordance with further increases in the cost-of-living.

T. R. Clelland with trophies

Birds At Big Show Win Prizes For Victorian

By HUMPHRY DAVY

For a man who took up canary raising as a hobby last January, T. R. Clelland, 917 Queens Avenue, is doing well for a beginner.

The 19-year-old construction worker, who entered a team of birds at the big Seattle roller canary song contest recently, returned to Victoria with an armful of ribbons, prizes and trophies.

His victories came as a surprise to many U.S. competitors, who had come to believe that nothing sang well north of the border. They got an earful of some of the sweetest music from the Victoria birds at the international show.

His success at Seattle won him praise from Len Skelton, an executive of the Victoria Roller Canary Club who knows canaries. "Mr. Clelland took more honors in his first year than any other member of the club," he says. "For a beginner he has done exceptionally well."

FRIENDLY ADVICE

In answer to all the praise he receives, Mr. Clelland, a friendly good-natured builder, says he is indebted to the members of the Victoria Club for his success in raising prize-winning birds. "When I started to raise birds they gave me any information

I wanted," he says. "The rest I learned by trial and error."

He started his hobby last January when he brought a canary home to his wife. She liked it and asked him to get another. For some reason, and he doesn't know why, he bought three birds instead, and that started him raising canaries.

"The boys kid me about the birds at work," he said. "But I don't mind. The birds keep me out of mischief."

BECOMING A SCIENCE

Raising canaries for singing competitions is fast becoming a science and as a hobby beginning to attract more and more people every year. The canary is the only bird in the world that is raised, trained and judged for his singing ability.

The song of a canary consists of 12 different rolls and tours. In judging, the full song with general effect is raised at 100 points, with quality of tone having first consideration. Faulty rolls are deducted from the grand total.

The tone of song has a range of one octave below middle C to the second highest C in the piano keyboard, which is pretty high. Judging is done with four birds at a time, with a limit of 20 minutes.

Each bird club has a song contest once a year and all other clubs are invited to send along their birds to be tested under different judges. The Victoria Canary Club is the youngest club in a circuit that goes as far east as Montreal.

Next year in January the Western Grand Champion Contest will be held in Victoria. Birds from as far east as Winnipeg will take part in the contest.

Plea For Improved Roads To Resorts Backed By Group

Hopes for improved access to Weir's Beach and Witty's Lagoon have been brightened.

Endorsement of efforts of city parks administrator Herb Warren to have the provincial lands and forests department put in better roads to the popular east Sooke beaches has been given by the city parks committee and the Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee.

In a letter to the department more than a month ago, Mr. Warren said "provision of access to the beaches should be one of the first objectives of the provincial parks for the public of the Greater Victoria area."

Announce Dates For Lighting Contest

Annual Christmas home lighting contest of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce will run this year from Dec. 19 to 23, All. Evans, chairman of the committee in charge, has announced. Any householder in the Greater Victoria area may enter the contest. Prizes will be awarded for the best illuminated house, the best decorated window and door, and the most attractive garden scene.

Gunnery Practice

Mariners have been advised by army authorities and by the Department of Transport that coast artillery gunnery practice will be carried out from Mary Hill, Esquimalt, as follows: Dec. 7, from 1 to 4 p.m.; Dec. 8, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.; Dec. 9, from 9 a.m. to noon.

Practice will be conducted seaward in an arc between Great Race Rock and Brodie Ledge. Danger radius will be 15,000 yards.

Mixed Feelings In Europe On A-Bomb Statement

Truman's Declaration, Plans Alone Can Save Peace, French Assemblymen Told

LONDON (CP)—European capitals have reacted with mixed feelings to President Truman's statement on possible use by U.N. forces of the atom bomb in the Korean war.

The foreign affairs committee of the French National Assembly adopted a resolution calling on the United Nations to negotiate with the Chinese for a demilitarized buffer zone along the Korean-Manchurian border.

In Rome, Foreign Minister Carlo Sforza was quoted as saying: "The speech and intentions of President Truman are the only things that can save peace."

In Athens, Premier Sophocles

Venizelos said "Greece is unreservedly on the side of the United States, which is heading the struggle of free peoples."

Government sources in West Germany said use of the atom bomb against the Chinese Communists would "almost certainly" cause military counter moves by Russia, possibly launched against Western Europe.

There was as yet no comment in the Russian press on the Truman statement. Moscow news papers gave full coverage, however, to United Nations debates on the Far Eastern situation, publishing in full the texts of speeches of Andrei Vishinsky and the Red Chinese delegation.

Capt. G. Waard's Death Presumed; Estate $11,000

VANCOUVER (CP)—An order presuming the death of Capt. George Waard, lost with his Chinese wife, Choy Waard, in Active Pass, off Galiano Island, last June 25, was issued in the B.C. Supreme Court Thursday.

Mrs. Waard's body was recovered, but no trace of her husband was found.

The court found that Capt. Waard died first, because he was 77 years of age, while Mrs. Waard was 64. The estate of about $11,000 is inherited by a son, Robert Waard of Vancouver.

Capt. Waard crossed the Pacific to Victoria and Vancouver in a Chinese junk 28 years ago, and was living on Galiano Island when he and his wife were lost from their small fishing craft.

19 HUNTERS LOSE LIVES

AUGUSTA, Me. (AP)—Maine's deer season ended today with a record human gunning total of 19. In addition to shooting fatalities, drownings claimed two hunters' lives. Figures on the deer kill were not available.

Pleven May Attend Washington Parley

If Upheld By House, French Premier Expected To Join Attlee, Truman

PARIS (Reuter)—A Foreign Office spokesman said tonight it was "very probable" Premier Rene Pleven would go to Washington if he won a vote of confidence in the French Assembly today.

Pleven and Foreign Minister Robert Schuman will meet Prime Minister Attlee in London tomorrow, before Attlee's journey to Washington to express the French viewpoint and ensure perfect liaison between Britain and France, he said.

Pleven asked for the vote earlier this week when he was defeated on an Assembly motion censuring Defence Minister Jules Moch for his alleged part in the leakage of military secrets.

ATTLEE'S VISIT 'CLINCHED'—WASHINGTON (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee's visit to President Truman was clinched in 15 minutes by the single word "Agree."

The State Department related today the conference to be held in Washington in the next few days.

At 4:30 p.m. Thursday, U.S. minister Julius C. Holmes wired from London that Attlee wanted to come over and talk with the President.

Attlee asked for prompt concurrence from Truman so he could make the announcement during the foreign affairs debate then going on in the House of Commons.

At 4:45 p.m., with the President's concurrence, State Secretary Acheson sent the one-word urgent message in reply.

ATTLEE MAY VISIT OTTAWA—LONDON (Reuter)—Informed quarters today said Prime Minister Clement Attlee may visit Ottawa on his way back from talks with President Truman in Washington next week. These quarters said, however, that this trip had not been finally arranged.

Sources said Field Marshal Sir Wallace Slim, Chief of the Imperial General Staff, may accompany Attlee to Washington Sunday.

India, Chinese Talk Of Peace

NEW YORK (BUP)—India today opened talks with Communist China on the possibility of achieving peace in the Far East. The chief of the Indian delegation is meeting at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel with the ranking Chinese Communist envoy—the first diplomat the Chinese has seen here, outside of delegates from Cominform nations.

Officer Shortage Is Cited

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Army today issued a draft call for 50,000 men in February.

The February call brings the total of army draft requests to 300,000 men since September. The first call was for 50,000 men in September. It was followed by a call for the same number in October.

The figure was raised to 70,000 for November, but was dropped to 40,000 for December and 40,000 for January.

One reason for the drop in calls, it was explained, was that the Korean war was absorbing so much of officer strength that there was a shortage of officers to train men.

FORMS STRONG LINE

PYONGYANG, North Korea—The retreating 8th Army today pulled into a tight line 40 miles south of its advanced positions and 30 miles north of Pyongyang.

The 8th Army had beat off Chinese attempts to trap it against the Yellow Sea. Allied divisions spreading toward the Manchurian border 40 to 60 miles northward had retreated to the south bank of the Chongchon River.

On the vulnerable right flank—where three South Korean divisions folded under the first heat of the Chinese assault—a Commonwealth force and Turkish—each in brigade strength—and the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division stood firm.

U.S. fighters and bombers rained explosives on Chinese attacking U.S. Marines and 7th Division infantrymen around the Changjin Reservoir in northeast Korea.

The Republic of Korea's president, Syngman Rhee, advocated using the A-bomb in North Korea. He suggested in an interview at Seoul that Allies should use "old-style" atomic bombs such as the ones that pulverized Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

No Limits Set

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times today quotes Gen. Douglas MacArthur as saying he has "received no suggestion from any authoritative source" that his troops should stop at any line short of the Manchurian boundary.

One-time Red Boss In U.S. Jailed

Flash In Sky Lights Huge Alaska Area

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—A brilliant flash, visible in such widely separated places as Kodiak and Fairbanks, lighted Alaskan skies Thursday.

By consensus, it was a meteor although there were unverified reports that anti-aircraft batteries opened fire on the object as it whizzed over Anchorage.

The flaming streak was reported over a 500-mile course extending from Kodiak in the Gulf of Alaska to inland Fairbanks. It also was visible at Seward, Portage and Skwentna.

Security agents immediately began questioning witnesses here where the visitation caused startled residents to jam telephone exchanges in inquiry.

Pilot C. G. Kelly, approaching an airfield eight miles southwest of here, said the object was directly overhead, traveling at 1,000 miles an hour and increasing in intensity until it was blinding to look at. Then he said it exploded and vanished to the northeast.

OL' VIC SAYS:

A lotta folks who is feelin' pretty safe in the sunshine is havin' a lot to say about how to fight a war in the snow, 5,000 miles away.

M'wife says you sure can tell war is comin'. Asked her why. "Because dresses are gettin' shorter and hair is gettin' longer," she says.

Guess that's about as good a reason as any.

Korean Capital Blasted

Communists May Drop Chutists

PYONGYANG, North Korea, Saturday (Reuter)—Heavy explosions shook Pyongyang shortly after midnight and it was believed the city was under attack by Communist aircraft for the second time in 24 hours.

Three hostile aircraft raided Pyongyang, allied-held North Korean capital, Thursday night.

United Nations forces here were put on the alert early today against a possible paratroop attack on the city by the Communists.

A security screen was thrown around the city just after midnight.

Military officials said that in addition to guarding against a paratroop attack they had warned all troops in the city against possible infiltration attacks by Chinese Communist ground troops.

N.Z. Leader Decries Red Drive

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (Reuter)—New Zealand's External Affairs Minister Frederick Doidge, said today the formal charge by the United States that China committed outright aggression in Korea is "equivalent to undeclared war between China and the United Nations."

He told a private session of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association conference that the Commonwealth countries could take only one decision: "Communist China must be taught aggression does not pay."

FINAL BULLETINS

WAR CRISIS AT A GLANCE

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman today asked Congress to provide an additional $17,850,000,000 for arms, including atomic weapons, with the "utmost speed" because of the "gravity of the world situation."

Truman said "these funds are needed to support our part in the United Nations military action in Korea, and to increase the size and readiness of our armed forces should action become necessary in other parts of the world."

He asked: $16,800,000,000 for a quick build-up of the Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force.
